Manchuria Puts 200,000 Men On Korean Border

TAIPEI.—(AP)—Chinese Nationalist intelligence sources said today the Sino-Reds in Manchuria had moved 200,000 troops to the north Korean border.

The movement, these sources said, was made at the specific order of Moscow.

At the same time reports persisted here that large numbers of Chinese Communist troops were pouring into Manchuria to be thrown into the Korean struggle if necessary.

Meanwhile talks on the dispatch of Nationalist troops to Korea continued. Official quarters said the talks were between a Nationalist mission in Tokyo and representatives of General MacArthur.

Fingers May Identify Bodies Of Victims In Lake Michigan Crash

SOUTH HAVEN, Mich.—(AP)—Fingerprints and wedding rings may lead to identification of the bodies of two women cast up by Lake Michigan.

Authorities today depended on "some very good fingerprints" and the rings for eventual identification.

The two women apparently were among the 53 persons who lost their lives in the crash of a Northwest Airlines plane in Lake Michigan during a storm last Saturday, worst plane disaster in U. S. history.

Both bodies were mangled. One was decapitated. The legs and right arms of both were missing. One had an engagement and a wedding ring, the other only a wedding ring.

Attacks On Women Prove Problem For Grand Rapids Police

GRAND RAPIDS.—(AP)—Concerned over reports of three recent attacks on women within the past four days, Prosecutor Roger McMahon today sought assistance from city officials.

He asked Mayor Paul G. Goebel to support action filed before the municipal service board for creation of a special section in the police department for a vice squad to handle sex offenders.

Supt. of Police Albert F. Schieren has already recommended the new classification. Goebel said he would favor the prosecutor's request.

During the month of June 45 warrants were issued against sex offenders.

Last Patients Leave Soo State Hospital

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich.—(AP)—The last patients were moved from the Sault Ste. Marie state hospital yesterday.

Movement of the patients to other state mental hospitals got under way early this year. The hospital is being taken over by the army for conversion into temporary housing for troops.

The state obtained use of the hospital from the army five years ago.

Bogus Tickets Sold

DETROIT.—(AP)—Lorenzo Martino, 34, of Newark, N. J., was arrested Friday by police investigating 36,000 counterfeit streetcar and bus tickets. Martino was quoted as saying he turned the tickets over to streetcar operator Carl Calviti, arrested earlier this week when he admitted selling $220 worth of bogus tickets to passengers.

Cars Line Up 6 Miles Deep At The Straits

(By The Associated Press)

Cars lined up six and a half miles deep at the Straits of Mackinac today (Saturday) as the annual Fourth of July parade started on Michigan highways.

The heavy traffic at the Straits was only one phase of the record travel expected on the roads during the four-day holiday week-end. The Automobile Club of Michigan estimated state travel would reach an all-time high of 2,000,000 cars.

As the exodus from city to country got under way two traffic deaths were reported.

W. C. Graves, 55, and Mrs. Cora Gurn, 53, both of Mason, were injured fatally Friday night in a three-car collision seven miles southwest of Williamston. Ernest J. Lasky, 41, and his wife, Hazel, of Jackson, who were riding in another car, suffered critical injuries. Occupants of the third car, Merlin Shaver, 27, and his wife, June, 25, of Marshall, suffered less serious injuries. All the injured were taken to Edwin W. Sparrow hospital in Lansing.

At the Straits, 1,300 cars were lined up Saturday morning and a delay of five hours in making the crossing was reported. The four ferries were operating through Friday night on a speeded up schedule that will be maintained for the next four days. The train ferry also was operating.

Ferries were being loaded and unloaded in about seven minutes and required about two hours for a roundtrip. This was considered unusually good time.

Famed Percy Jones Hospital Closed At Battle Creek, Mich.

BATTLE CREEK, Mich.—(AP)—The last army patient has left Percy Jones general hospital, which treated thousands of them in eight years of war and peace.

The federal government removed the last of its service patients yesterday in preparation for turning the big institution over to civilian use.

By all indications, the state of Michigan will be its next operator. Governor Williams has asked the army to turn over the hospital to Michigan, and has received assurances that the state has top priority.

Wife-Killer Insane

DETROIT.—(AP)—Stanley Gromek, accused in the June 5 homicide slaying of his wife, Cleo, has been ordered committed to the Ionia State hospital for the criminally insane. Recorder's Judge Joseph A. Gillis ordered the move after a sanity commission ruled Gromek was insane.

July To Break All U. S. Records In Employment

By CHARLES MOLONY

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Government experts predicted today that employment this month will break all records.

The stage was set when June employment, as reported by the census bureau yesterday, rolled up to 61,482,000, second highest in history and only 133,000 short of the July, 1948, record.

Credit Buying Mounts

The experts said this means a new record is practically certain for this month, since July always opens up a host of seasonal jobs—providing services to vacationers, among other things.

The 61,482,000 June total reflected a 1,751,000 gain in jobs over May and a 4,533,000 advance since January, when there was much concern over unemployment.

Only civilian jobs were counted in that total. Ignored were 1,311,000 armed forces personnel, who actually lifted the total of Americans working for pay or profit to 62,793,000.

Despite the mounting income assured by five consecutive months of rising employment, it appeared that the American people were buying on credit as never before.

Youngsters Hunt Jobs

The Federal Reserve board reported that consumer credit outstanding reached $19,091,000,000 at the start of June, marking the first time it had ever gone above the $19,000,000,000 mark.

During May alone, buyers went $481,000,000 deeper into debt for retail purchases—and $352,000,000 of that plunge was on the installment plan.

Although job opportunities were rising steadily, the Census Bureau said unemployment gained 227,000 from May to June to reach a 3,384,000 total last month.

The main cause, it said, was a swarm of youngsters hunting summer jobs. These accounted mostly for a 2,073,000 jump in the number of job seekers in June.

Belgium Takes Step For Return Of King

BRUSSELS, Belgium.—(AP)—Belgium's new Social Christian (Catholic) cabinet took a preliminary step yesterday toward returning King Leopold III to his throne.

The government, pledged to recall the king from exile, won a general vote of confidence in the house of representatives. Both the house and senate must vote jointly, however, to end the king's exile.

Seaway Urgent, Wiley Declares

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Senator Wiley (R-Wis.) said today developments in Korea underscore the "desperate" need for the St. Lawrence seaway and power project.

Were the seaway a reality, Wiley said in a statement, this nation would be in a position to obtain badly-needed iron ores from Labrador through the protected St. Lawrence route.

Wiley said that the Mesabi iron ore range, from which America for decades has drawn the bulk of its supplies, "simply does not contain" enough high-grade ore to feed this nation's steel mills in the event of another all-out war.

Wiley said arguments of seaway opponents that it would be vulnerable to attack "do not hold water."

"The truth is," he said, "that (bombs) could not hit the Soo locks (at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.), the TVA (Tennessee Valley Authority), Boulder Dam or almost any one of our other installations out of commission."

American Forces Face Long Struggle In Southern Korea

By MAX BOYD

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—The reported virtual collapse of the South Korean army means a hard, bloody and perhaps long campaign for American troops thrown into the battle against the Korean Communists.

Military men here said the outlook is all the more grim because foul weather may make it increasingly difficult to bring America's air superiority to bear. At this time of year, Korea normally enters a season of torrential rains and overcast skies lasting two months or more.

During the next few days, when the first U. S. ground forces are struggling to get established and stop the rush of Communist tanks, the weather will be of extreme importance. It will decide, more than anything else, whether the GI's get protection and support from the hundreds of planes available on Japan, Okinawa, Guam and on allied aircraft carriers.

Initial limits on armed American aid to Korea were abandoned yesterday, even before the full proportions of the southerners' rout became known publicly.

In his original announcement of American intervention, President Truman had mentioned only air and sea support of the defending army.

Yesterday the White House disclosed that ground forces would be used as well.

At a Pentagon briefing of reporters the day before Mr. Truman announced armed aid, army spokesmen said the situation in Korea was not hopeless.

If the South Koreans were well trained and had the will to fight, one officer declared at that time, they should give the invaders considerable opposition.

The army spokesmen acknowledged at this initial briefing that a counterattack by two South Korean divisions had failed for lack of coordination.

They confirmed that two American divisions withdrawn from South Korea last year had left $56,000,000 worth of equipment for the Korean army. This included no tanks, however. Nor had the Korean air force been given any combat planes.

Both orders came after the northern Communist invasion of Southern Korea.

The single lock on the Canadian side of the border still will accommodate cruise boats, ordinary passenger ships and sightseeing craft on the river.

Freighters will continue to have unrestricted use of the locks.

As the new order was being clamped on, the U. S. corps of engineers reported that May was the top shipping month so far this year for the locks.

During May, a total of 13,512,004 tons of freight—9,160,827 of it iron ore bound for east and Midwest steel mills—poured through the locks that divide Lake Superior from the lower lakes.

A total of 2,555 ships carrying 1,406 passengers—aside from crew members—passed the locks.

White House Awaits Next Soviet Move

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

Aboard Destroyer USS William M. Wood.—(AP)—President Truman's close associates said today his next moves in the Korean war will await developments in Moscow and at the front.

They said he has no plans for either a fireside chat to the country or an address to Congress unless events should make such a course advisable.

President Looks Tense

Meanwhile, the chief executive rested aboard the presidential yacht Williamsburg, from the stress and strain of his most trying week since the end of World War two.

The gray-haired president looked tense and tired as he climbed up the gangplank of his yacht in the Philadelphia Navy Yard last night at the close of a day of fateful decisions in the new American "calculated risk" policy against Communism in the Far East.

His face brightened, however, when he spied his daughter, Margaret, who drove down from New York to join him for the cruise back to Washington.

The two appeared on an upper deck of the ship to pose for photographers and exchange pleasantries with reporters.

"I made a speech yesterday," Margaret told them. The president quipped she "didn't put out a release on it."

Scouts Hear Speech

Incidentally, the president made a speech too.

Mr. Truman boarded the Williamsburg shortly before midnight last night after addressing 47,000 Boy Scouts at the second national jamboree at Valley Forge, Pa.

The president told the Scouts they should help spread their ideal of human brotherhood to nations where youth are being regimented for racial hatred and war.

be necessary to steam fighting ships up and down the whole Korean coast.

They believe the same effect can be achieved by throwing a naval cordon across the top of the Yellow sea between Dairen in Manchuria and the northwest Korean port of Heijo.

Freedom Of Seas

Similarly, Seishin near the extreme northeastern tip of Korea could be isolated by a sea blockade from the big Russian base at Vladivostok, only 75 miles away.

Asked whether blockading American vessels would operate near Vladivostok, a navy official said: "We believe in the freedom of the seas outside the three-mile limit."

While the blockade may not hamper Soviet shipments to the Korean Reds, the U. S. air force may succeed in doing so now that the "out of bounds" sign has been lifted from the 38th parallel which divides Korea.

Mr. Truman's announcement that American planes henceforth will strike at military targets in the invaders' home territory was expected to set off a series of U. S. air attacks on North Korean roads and rail lines.

Thus, a fairly good land route exists for shipment of supplies into North Korea from Russian territory.

The American navy expects to make the blockade as tight as ships can forge it.

Four Missing In B-50 Plunge

TAMPA, Fla.—(AP)—Four crewmen are missing from a Boeing B-50 bomber which crashed and exploded after catching fire during takeoff last night.

Eight members of the 12-man crew are known to have parachuted to safety. None of the survivors was seriously injured.

The big air force bomber, which is an improved version of the B-29 crashed onto an isolated part of MacDill air force base. The explosion tore the ship into small bits.

Four of the parachuting airmen dropped into Tampa Bay on which MacDill base is located. They waded ashore unaided. One other was picked up by a small boat.

The blazing ship was an amazing spectacle as it shot through the air. Even more spectacular was the explosion which attracted motorists in hundreds of cars to the field. They couldn't get in.

Little Republic Badly Battered By Communists

Historic GI Airlift Has Rough Weather

(By The Associated Press)

The first American ground troops were airlifted into Korea today and headed toward the front to fight Communist invaders.

An air force spokesman said the air ferry operation had been completed without mishap. The number of troops sent was not announced.

In Tokyo, Gen. MacArthur's headquarters announced that North Korean forces had breached the Han river defense line and were concentrated 10 miles north of Suwon, former provisional capital of South Korea. A communique said an advance element appeared into Suwon during the night but apparently not in sufficient force to hold it.

Infantry On March

An earlier Washington announcement contradicted South Korean declarations that southern troops still held Suwon, which American headquarters troops abandoned yesterday with first reports of the Red breakthrough.

The MacArthur headquarters announcement apparently was the latest information from the front.

The new American headquarters is at Taejon, 70 miles south of Suwon and 90 miles south of Seoul. It had been a provisional capital also, but President Syngman Rhee and his government pulled out during the day.

The U. S. soldiers, in full field equipment, had not yet reached

Marshal Slain; He Got His Man

WISTER, Okla.—The Wister town marshal and a robbery suspect he was attempting to arrest were killed in a gun battle late last night near the downtown area here.

A second suspect escaped, but officers reported early today a posse led by bloodhounds is believed to have him trapped in the rugged area near the Wister Dam.

The dead are: Marshal Thelma Johnson, 45. Troy Sterling, 22 of Marshal, Oklahoma.

Johnson died in a nearby Potomac hospital in a few minutes after the shooting. Three bullets pierced his chest and head.

The body of Sterling was found a few yards from the shooting scene more than an hour later.

Leiford County Sheriff Jack Craig said Johnson and other officers attempted to arrest the two young men as suspects in the kidnapping and robbery last Wednesday of a Wister taxi driver.

Craig reported Johnson was walking over a railroad crossing near the downtown area. The two men pulled alongside in a car and opened fire on him.

The sheriff reported that in the confusion it was not known at first the marshal returned the fire. Later, however, Sterling's body was found and it was determined he was hit by a bullet from Johnson's gun.

Top chart is based on data from the President's Council of Economic Advisers. An indication that profits for 1950 may be the same or greater than last year is contained in the bottom chart, based on a survey of 163 manufacturing firms by the National Industrial Conference Board, giving their estimate of this year's profits as compared to 1949's.

Veterans Can't Be Called Back

WASHINGTON — (P) — Army and Air Force veterans who were discharged after the last war—and who didn't sign up for the reserves then—cannot be recalled to service on the ground that the war emergency has never ended officially.

In general, that was the reply of Army and Air Force spokesmen today to these two questions being raised by veterans:

1. In case of a presidential call up of reservists, what would be the status of former officers who did not sign up for the reserve commissions after their war service?

2. Could a discharged GI be called back to service on the grounds that the draft law which was in effect during the war obligate him to serve for the duration and six months?

The Air Force said any air officer who was separated from the service, without signing up for a new reserve commission, could not be recalled. In case the country should find itself in a new emergency, a spokesman said, the Air Force would review the rolls of former officers and offer new commissions to those it wanted. Those offered new commissions would not have to accept them, however.

The spokesman added that discharge certificates protect enlisted air veterans of the war against being recalled.

An Army representative said former Army officers, who were "discharged from their commission" and who did not sign up for new reserve commissions, could not be called back. However, some who were placed on inactive duty, rather than being discharged, could be.

War-time GIs who were discharged couldn't be called back under the wartime draft law.

4-H Cattle Barn Delay Indicated

Building Will Not Be Ready For Fair

Because of a steel shortage, the 4-H cattle barn authorized by the state legislature for the Upper Peninsula State Fair grounds here will not be constructed in time for the 1950 U. P. State Fair in August, Harold Lindsay, secretary-manager, has been informed.

Edine Arntzen of Escanaba was low bidder on the erection of the building, a steel building constructed by the Butler company of Minneapolis. The building is of a design similar to the 4-H dormitory and dining buildings at the fairgrounds.

It previously had been indicated that the building would be available in time for installation prior to the 1950 U. P. State Fair in Escanaba Aug. 15-20.

It has been indicated that the steel shortage developed because of expanded requirements for national defense.

The fair board will recommend that the contract for the erection of the building be awarded to the low bidder for installation as soon as the building material is available.

Harry Gjelsteen, Menominee, who is architect for the project, reported this morning that the delivery date on the prefabricated building is at least 60 days.

The building will be 60 by 160 feet in dimensions.

Anderson Replaced On Mortuary Board By Ishpeming Man

LANSING —(P)—George S. Fitzgerald of Detroit, Democratic national committeeman, was reappointed by Governor Williams Friday to the State Social Welfare commission, ending speculation of a new rift in the Democratic high command.

The governor's delay in reappointing Fitzgerald had caused talk that Williams intended to penalize him for opposition to Williams' control of the party machinery.

Fitzgerald, who owed his party post to the support of the AFL Teamsters' Union, has been at odds with the CIO wing of the party and Hicks Griffiths, the governor's former law partner who is retiring as Democratic state chairman.

Fitzgerald's new term will expire June 30, 1955. Edward J. Zhulkie of Ishpeming was appointed by the governor to state board of examiners in mortuary science for a term expiring June 30, 1955. He succeeds C. Arthur Anderson of Escanaba, whose term has expired.

IT'S A START—The Escanaba Junior Chamber of Commerce has started the ball rolling to accumulate a fund to build a community building in Escanaba. This week, it contributed $125 to the fund. Wildlife Studies Will Be Resumed At Cusino

Things are beginning to hum over near Shingleton in Alger county, where the Michigan conservation department is preparing to resume a full-scale program of wildlife studies.

The late war put a damper on most of the experiments being carried on there, said D. F. Switzenberg, supervisor of the Cusino experimental station.

Not only that, but the present location of the buildings, built under the pre-war CCC program, are way back in the woods where winter travel was almost impossible. This necessitates the state planning new buildings closer to the highway near Shingleton.

Use Prison Labor The labor of men from Michigan prisons, to be established in a camp at the site with the cooperation of the state corrections commission, will be used in part in the construction of the new Cusino wildlife experiment station.

They will be assigned to details such as site preparation for the new building, building of trails and parking areas, landscaping, razing of the old camp, and other work.

About 10 men will come in from Michigan prisons at the start of the program, to be augmented soon to a total complement of about 35 when accommodations are ready for them.

Besides the work listed above, the men will repair present deer range enclosures, repair experimental enclosures and cages, assist in making signs, markers, bird traps and animal traps, assist in making deer drive census, brood counts, and in live trapping activities.

Wildlife Management There may be some persons who are puzzled about the need of a wildlife experimental station. Yet answers are needed to a variety of questions that seriously effect the game population of Northern Michigan.

"The objectives of the Cusino experimental station will be to study the effect of land use on game wildlife of the Upper Peninsula and how wildlife can best be managed under these conditions," says Switzenberg.

Besides Switzenberg, station supervisor, the staff at Cusino now includes Sam Carney, biologist,

D. F. SWITZENBERG

Ted Fairbanks and Wayne Burnette, Michigan State College students employed for the summer in mapping the area, and Barney Simmonds, John Koski and Cliff Anderson, who are field assistants.

To Enlarge Staff "Several additional biologists will be employed when the new headquarters at Shingleton is completed," Switzenberg said. "One of them will be assigned to deer, one to upland game birds and another to predators and furbearers. There will also be some management planning which will be handled or supervised by forestry personnel." Starting July 10, I. H. Bartlett, in charge of deer investigations for the conservation department, and Dr. Stanley Whitlock, who supervises the department's experiment, stations, will arrive in the U. P. for a two-week stay. One week will be spent at Cusino, the other in visiting district game managers.

Future experimental work at Cusino will include the following activities:

Studies Planned

With deer in a square mile enclosure it will be possible to check on their reproduction, food supply, the effect of predators and other factors. The effect on deer of present forest practices, controlled forest burning, seasons and hunting regulations, and a study of winter fawn mortality and the effect of deer browse on hardwood will be studied.

Sharptail grouse, now in a decline in some sections of the Upper Peninsula, will be studied to determine range movements, effect of cycles on population, diseases and other factors affecting the game birds.

John Kutches Hurt In Auto Accident

Tech Arranges 4 Field Trips

Houghton Students Going On Tours

HOUGHTON — The Michigan College of Mining and Technology mining engineering department will send out four field expeditions this summer.

Arranged to give the students first-hand knowledge of the application of mining engineering principles they have studied in class, the trips are a part of the work required for a mining engineering degree. The students will inspect underground and surface operations and will submit detailed reports after they return to the Houghton campus. Two field parties, totalling 32 students, will make two-week tours of the mines of the Marquette, Menominee, and Gogebie ranges of the Lake Superior district, beginning on July 5 and returning to Houghton on July 14. A third party, numbering 32 students, will leave on July 16 for Minnesota, where they will study the mining operations on the Vermillion, Mesabi, and Cuyuna ranges, returning to Houghton on July 28.

The most extensive field trip will be taken by nineteen students who will spend five weeks (July 28-September 2) in the West, inspecting mines and mining methods in South Dakota, Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona, and Utah.

All groups will be directed by Professor J. Murray Riddell, head of the Michigan Tech mining department, and Professor Charles M. Harry of the college faculty.

Let's Demolish Old Beachhouse At Park Before New Beach Is Opened

ESCANABA'S NEW BEACHHOUSE and a new beach at Ludington Park are near completion. It is planned to open the new beach to the public in about two weeks.

While the beach construction job is getting the finishing touches before the official opening, a demolition job is also in order at the park. We are referring, of course, to the decrepit, emaciated and hideous old green building that a generation ago was a nifty looking beachhouse. Today it is simply an eyesore, a blight on the landscape at Ludington Park.

The building has long since outlived its primary usefulness and its only service today is a hideaway for park equipment and

Russia Is Not Ready For War At This Time

RUSSIA'S REACTION to the intervention of American planes in the Korean war is somewhat surprising. The Russians to be sure, have raved and ranted about American imperialism, etc., etc., etc., but the Kremlin has been quite careful to give the impression that the Soviets regard the Korean war as simply a local problem. In other words, the Russians are not going to stake their prestige in world affairs upon the outcome of the Korean war no are they going to regard the American intervention as an overt act leading to war.

We have called the Russian bluff by direct action in Korea. In doing so, we have gained the good will and confidence of the world's peoples who regard Russian and Communist expansion as a threat to world peace. It is certain that Russia would not have dared to assist the Koreans, Russia would certainly have moved for a new grab elsewhere, probably in Iran.

Russia is not ready for war. That is the logical deduction to be drawn from the Korean situation. If Russia were prepared for war, she would have reacted differently to the American intervention. Russia would have sent her troops and planes in to the Korean war. She has not done so because she does not want to become entangled in a war.

Planning Commission Act Goes Too Far

THE STATE enabling act under which the City of Escanaba has established the city planning commission provides that action taken by the commission on matters subject to the planning commission's jurisdiction cannot be overruled by the city council except by a two-thirds vote of the council. In Escanaba's five-man council, that means it would require four of the five council vote to veto a planning commission action. A majority vote, three out of five, is not sufficient to meet the two-thirds requirement.

We believe that this provision of the act is wrong and prejudicial to democratic government. In effect it makes the planning commission a legislative body rather than an advisory body by stripping the council of some of its own legislative authority and establishing in its place a restricted veto authority. It is also inconsistent with the fact that the planning commission is an appointive body, the membership of which is, in fact, appointed by the council.

At the moment, the problem is not a serious one in Escanaba. The members of the planning commission individually have recognized that the commission should be subservient to a majority rule of the council. The city's planning expert advisor, Elmer Krieger, likewise has counseled the planning commission to recognize a majority opinion of the council.

The point that we are emphasizing here is simply that the situation could become wholly unsatisfactory at some future date if the planning commission insisted upon asserting its full legal rights and authority. With the support of only two of the five council members, the planning commission could nullify a majority viewpoint of the city council on any matter coming within the scope of the planning commission's jurisdiction.

It may require a legislative act to remedy this situation by amending the state enabling act or it may be possible for the city council to revise its ordinance and accomplish the desired result. The problem should be given some serious consideration to preserve the benefits that can accrue from the work of a city planning commission without the pitfall that is inherent in this provision of the act.

The Dub

There's a lot of nerve required in most every walk of life, and in every game you play there's always got to be some strife. But some forms of recreation, which our citizens pursue, need an extra shot of valor and some perseverance too. Such fanatics are the gents you find at all the country clubs—they have found the needed courage to be classed as golfing dubs.

Now it's always been a puzzle why the biggest golfing nut is the guy who just ain't born to have the skill to drive and putt. There's a halter on his muscles and a stiffness in his bones. But it never seems to keep him from his battle with the course, though his wife has said the golfing bug is grounds for quick divorce.

When he watches younger fellows with a lot of form and style, he will make a mental note of how they hit the ball a mile. And he follows pros in battle and he reads the golfing books, but he never cures his slices or corrects his looping hooks. No, it never seems to work for him, no matter how he tries, but if Par he never catches, he at least gets exercise.

Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Simultaneously with the Korean crisis two top British defense experts arrived in Washington for talks with Defense Secretary Louis Johnson. The fact that they came as the Korean crisis broke was an accident, but nevertheless it was significant that, simultaneously, Peter Geoffrey Roberts, conservative member of parliament, urged use of the atomic bomb against north Korea.

For it is to discuss British use of the atomic bomb that the two experts were ordered to Washington.

They are: Dr. Sir Ralph Cochran and Dr. Richard Cochran atomic scientists.

The two men were sent on direct orders of Prime Minister Attlee, following a meeting of the British cabinet, to discuss future use of the atomic bomb by Britain. What they propose is:

1. That the United States stockpile a certain number of baby A-bombs in the Azores in mid-Atlantic immediately. Attlee wants this done for the purpose of strengthening European defenses.

2. Should war break, Attlee also wants it understood that British bombers shall have the right to drop A-bombs. He is quite content to leave atomic bombs in American hands up until a war breaks, but after that, he wants British bombers to participate.

So far the United States has made no commitments one way or the other.

CONFLICTING STORIES

Partially conflicting stories as to why we were caught off base in Korea were given the Senate Appropriations committee this week.

Secretaries Acheson and Johnson admitted we had been caught napping, but Adm. Roscoe Hillekoetter, chief of the central intelligence agency read two reports to the senators, one dated as late as June 20, showing that his intelligence agents had given a general warning.

When Acheson and Johnson appeared before the Senate committee in a secret session, Ferguson of Michigan asked both point blank whether they had received any word of the impending attack. Both said they had not.

"It was a complete surprise," Secretary Johnson replied, and hinted that central intelligence was to blame.

Both men told the senators they knew that the north Korean border was restive, but said the actual invasion had taken them completely by surprise.

Why wasn't central intelligence on the job? Senator Bridges, New Hampshire Republican, broke in. "They get — dollars from Congress. What are they doing with it?" (Bridges mentioned the exact amount voted for central intelligence, but later withdrew the figure as secret.)

Secretary Johnson shrugged his shoulders. "You'll have to ask Admiral Hillekoetter," he said.

SECRET REPORTS

The admiral was promptly summoned to appear before the Senate committee in closed-door session at 3 p. m. However, he did not appear. Later, it developed that he had been called to the White House. At 4 p. m., however, he arrived before the senators bringing two secret reports warning of possible attacks on Korea.

One was dated August 1949 and told of continuing activity along the border. The second was dated June 20, 1950 and told in detail of increasing border incidents, including a concentration of 65,000 to 75,000 Communist troops. There troops, according to report, were well equipped, with artillery, tanks, guns and ammunition of the type which the Japanese army surrendered to Russia. There were also a total of 195 planes, all late Russian models.

When questioned by senators Admiral Hillekoetter admitted he could not forecast the date of a border invasion. Skirmishes along the border might have continued another year, he said, or the invasion might have come the next day. It was not his job to evaluate reports, he said, merely to make them.

NOTE—A series of reports on Korean unrest and border activity had actually reached the state department some time ago and Ambassador John Muccio, acting on them, made a special trip to Washington to obtain extra military supplies. The supplies, chiefly artillery to resist Russian tanks, were due this week.

WEEK END MISCELLANY

Q. When I tried to get my boy friend to take me square dancing, he refused saying it was infra dig. He won't explain what he meant. Will you, please?—E. L. A. Infra dig is a slang way of saying infra diguitatem, Latin for "undignified, beneath one's dignity."

Kansas City: Here is a column that begins, "Every so often someone writes about some of the nation's great who have come from Kansas." How about that "every so often"?—K. W. S.

A. It is a nonsensical cliché that has no place in good writing. It would be much better to say, "often; frequently; occasionally." Equally undesirable is: "every now and then."

Q. Is there such a word as "bodeck?" A. The Osege river was called, bois d'arc, "wood of (the) bow," by the American-French, for the wood was widely used by Indians in making bows. Bois d'arc is pronounced: bwa darc.

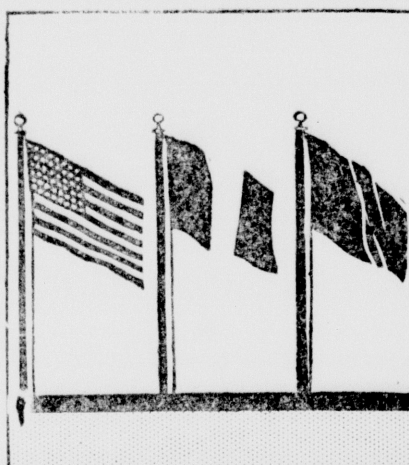

Two American forms are "bodeck," pronounced: Bode-dock; and "bodark," pronounced: BOE-dohrk.

Oklahoma City: How is the "j" pronounced in the word fjord?—J. O. D.

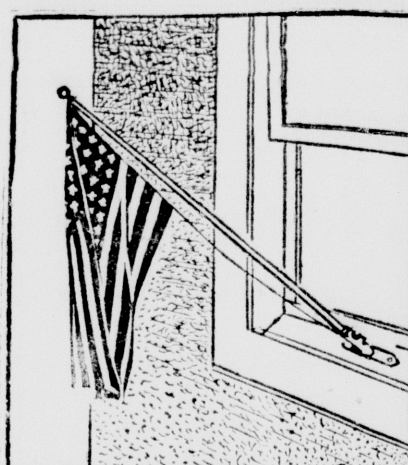

A. In Norwegian, and other Teutonic languages, "j" is pronounced like the consonant "y." Fjord (also spelled: fiord) is pronounced: fyawrd. It means "a narrow arm of the sea."

The radio's may have its faults, but let's not be too harsh. They don't broadcast a female impersonator.

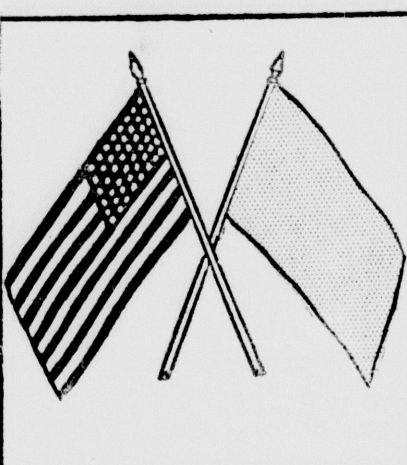

Long May It Wave--Correctly

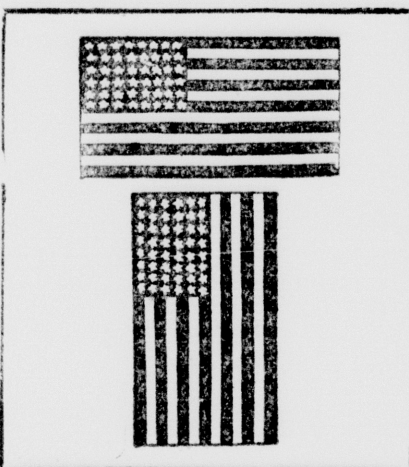

With flags of other nations, on separate staffs, all flags are of near equal size and at same height; U. S. Flag on the right.

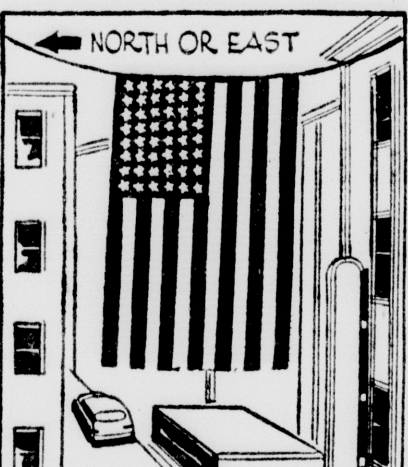

When displayed from a window horizontally or at an angle, the union of the flag goes to peak of the staff (unless at half-staff).

When displayed this way on wall, U. S. Flag is on its own right, with its staff in front of the staff of the other flag.

When not on a staff, flag should be displayed flat, indoors or out. Union always goes uppermost and on its own right.

Hang flag over the middle of a street vertically, the union facing north on east-west street and east on a north-south street.

On speaker's platform, flag is displayed flat thus; or, if on a staff, it holds place of honor at the speaker's right.

DON'T DRAPE FLAGS OVER CARS OR FLOATS. ALWAYS TREAT FLAG WITH RESPECT. Never permit disrespect to be shown to the Flag of the United States of America.

On church platform, U. S. Flag goes on clergyman's right. If displayed in the body of the church, staff is on congregation's right.

U. S. Flag goes on the right when carried with another in parade. With a line of flags, U. S. Flag goes front and center.

On Independence Day, July 4, millions of flags will be flown, displayed and carried in ceremonies and parades throughout the United States. Some of them, because of lack of information, will not be handled according to the rules of flag etiquette. Sketched here are some simple rules governing use of the United States Flag. Handicraft Revival Proves U. S. Still Retains Pioneer Skills

By HERBERT HOLLANDER

Growing by leaps and bounds throughout the country, and by no means limited to farm folk, the practice of rural handicrafts is becoming the useful and oftentimes profitable hobby of literally millions of Americans.

Originating as country and frequently as pioneering arts, these handicrafts have spread from the farms of the land to individuals and groups in towns and cities; and in their newest uses are found in the occupational therapy programs of veterans and other hospitals.

Through the extension program of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, the Russell Sage Foundation, various State craft guilds, as well as numerous community organizations, the resurgence of nation-wide interest in rural handicrafts of all kinds has been remarkable in recent years and now is at an all-time peak in every part of the country.

Art of Quilt Making For example, quilt making has reached the status of a fine art; and no other country has developed such a wealth of designs as is to be found here. The oldest dated quilt still extant in the United States was made in 1795; those being created now are in the same careful tradition.

A great variety of hand-forged iron work, much of it of high artistic merit, is being turned out in household shops. Chairs, tables and all manner of furniture likewise show the creative talents of amateur cabinet makers.

Hooked rugs and afghans of meticulous workmanship are found in abundance; and the making of hearth brooms, in the old style, has become a thriving minor industry.

Handicrafts in wood, corn husks and ivory reveal the ingenuity of many a person who recently has turned his hands to this form of creative activity. And hats made of corn husk bristles display a flair for style that would interest John Fredricks or Lily Dache.

Many neophyte wood carvers are producing amazingly good figures and designs; and like all of those who have become interested in these handicrafts, find solid satisfaction even though they never make a sale. But much of the product of this revival of handicrafts does find enthusiastic buyers.

This wide return to the "crafts arts" of earlier days has brought back the hand spindle and loom, now again found in thousands of city and farm homes in all parts of the country. At the same time, basket making by American Indians has reached a new high in perfection; and the native art of silversmithing is producing art objects of outstanding workmanship.

Skill In Pottery

Pottery is another field in which rural handicrafts are enabling many to give expression to latent talents; and busy potter's wheels are to be seen not only on farms but in a great many basement workshops in city suburbs.

A number of ambitious and gifted crafters not only are making tweed cloth for their family use but also are fashioning garments from them in the Hebrides tradition. Another handicraft appealing to a growing group is lace spinning; while others are producing handsome book bindings in leather and other materials.

The ancient art of illuminating, practiced with such consummate skill by monks of the Middle Ages and before, is getting attention, too, with impressive results. And there are those who specialize in exploiting the decorative possibilities of driftwood, which takes fantastic shapes and lends itself to interesting variation from conventional floral pieces.

Painting of portraits and landscapes has found numerous new devotees in recent years. Here again, the extent and variety of talents, even though unschooled, has been remarkable.

The old hobby of whittling is still an intriguing one; nowadays, however, many families are finding it possible to augment their income by clever use of knife on wood. In some mountain sections of the southeast, for example, family income has been boosted $500 a year and more from this source alone.

Another interesting development in this field has been the making of handcrafted mattresses. In one year through the use of surplus cotton stocks 5,000,000 cotton mattresses and comforters were made by low-income families for their own use.

Leather-crafting is still another art which has found large numbers of interested followers both on the farms and in cities. A recent display included hand-made harness among scores of other useful and attractive articles.

Hearth brooms have been mentioned; but they are just one of many kinds of sweepers being made both for fun and profit, usually of materials which either normally would be waste or which can be secured by city-dwellers at small cost.

Old-time spinning wheels are again in use in really surprising numbers and the creation of lovely and durable textiles, by the most ancient and painstaking of methods, is steadily growing in all parts of the country.

Wood Used Extensively

A survey by the Department of Agriculture shows that "the maker's own use" is by far the most important purpose for which handicraft products are made. "Leisure time activities" is second; and "sale of products" next. Several million persons are known to be regularly engaged in handicrafts in rural areas; and at least that many in urban sections.

In the order named, wood, cotton, wool, leather, metal, and clay are the major materials from which handicraft and other rural art products are made. It is regarded as likely that this order might be changed slightly in cities and towns, but not significantly.

To an increasing extent both the sale and appreciation of handicrafts is being stimulated by exhibitions; sponsored by Federal, State and local agencies as well as by churches, fairs and guilds especially concerned with the revival of these arts. It is estimated that the cash value of such products, rurally-produced alone, now is running about $10,000,000 annually, and the figure may be considerably higher. Add to this the value of city-made handicrafts and the extent of this burgeoning activity is graphically demonstrated.

The use of handicrafts in hospital and home therapy is rapidly growing and is used to a far greater extent now than ever before.

In many instances, too, handicrafts reflect the occupation of the makers; although more often they are quite different and provide a new outlet definitely apart from the usual daily routine. However, on the ranges of the Far West, cowpokes are producing beautifully wrought whips, quirts, bridle reins and ropes made of horsehair, for their own use primarily.

But whatever the art, it provides the infinite pleasure of creation by the skill of hand and the ingenuity of mind; and is providing anew that even in a machine age the resourcefulness which enabled Americans to carve a great nation out of a wilderness is not lacking.

TRIUMPHANT FOURTH—What is the most pleasant way to spend the Fourth of July? The answer depends upon your age: If fourteen a riproaring celebration is in order—if forty or over, something on the quiet side with a picnic lunch.

Many people this year will find enjoyment in the Fourth of July programs to be staged in their home towns. Folks can stay home and still hear the bands play, watch the parade, and go "oooh" and "aaah" when fireworks light the evening sky.

Escanaba this year has an all-day program for the Fourth, thanks to the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the city recreation department. So you have the opportunity to stay home, relax and enjoy it.

SOMETHING DIFFERENT—From the fertile farmlands of North Dakota (not the Bad Lands) came the touring farmers, members of an association studying farm management.

They toured the Upper Peninsula—and found something different in Delta county. This was a visit to the Frank Barron farm at Flat Rock, and a taste of maple syrup from the Barron sugar bush.

Frank served the maple syrup in little paper cups, with Mrs. Barron offering a refill from a big pitcher.

The North Dakota farmers smacked their lips in appreciation and inquired if Frank had some of the syrup for sale.

"But I didn't give you maple syrup to make you want to buy some," Frank protested.

REASON ENOUGH—But the North Dakota farmers insisted that if Frank had maple syrup for sale, they wanted to buy it. And so they did, but not before remarking on the appearance of the apple orchard at the Barron place.

It is a typical Upper Peninsula orchard with grass growing among the untrimmed trees, and livestock allowed to pasture in it. When the apples are ripe some of them are picked and sold or put in storage, but most are eaten by the pigs and cows.

In answer to their questions, County Agent Joe Heirman told the North Dakota farmers that while the Upper Peninsula climate grows good apples, the short season does not give the fruit a high color. Since consumers want brightly-colored fruit, the Northern Michigan apples can not compete on the market with those grown downstate.

But for our money the apples grown in this area are tops in flavor. Beauty is, after all, only skin deep.

ACTION PROGRAM—Gunnar Back of Alexandria, Va., son of John S. Back of Escanaba, recently prepared a radio program for Alcoholics Anonymous in Escanaba while home on vacation. Gunnar's radio series on "Alcoholism in Washington" won him a national award for public service programs.

There were many favorable comments on the special AA broadcast over WDBC in Escanaba, and we so reported in this column. In a letter the other day, Gunnar said in part:

"Escanaba lies close to my heart. Through the years I don't think I've seen anything happen to the town of greater value than Alcoholics Anonymous. The AA substitutes action for civic wind-making. It goes directly where the human misery is."

NOT SO SHY—The mother partridge is not so shy when defending her young, reports James L. Halbach, district forester for the conservation department at Newberry.

While driving along a woods road, Halbach almost ran over 10 baby partridge. Halting his pickup truck to let them pass, Halbach saw the mother bird flutter away, putting on her broken-wing act to attract his attention from the chicks.

When he did not drive away quickly enough to suit her—she flew to the truck, perched on it and scolded him with outstretched neck and wings.

Latin America Peeved At U. S.

Coffee, Copper And Oil Are Factors

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON—The spectacle of Senators in a dither over whether intelligence agencies had advance information of the North Korean attack has a grim kind of humor. With what kind of intelligence on the eve of this newest crisis were the Senators themselves "absorbed"? They were investigating or about to investigate among other things, coffee, homosexuality, crime in government and the gambling syndicate in participation.

Given a little more time, they might have got around to stamp collecting, the rage for canasta and the traffic in marijuana. In anything like normal times all this might have been considered a midsummer political pastime. But we have not been living in normal times. And, as Senator Gillette's little exploration of the coffee business now has shown, it can have most serious consequences when we need urgently to keep our friends and especially our near neighbors in Latin America.

Coffee Growers Irked. Senator Gillette says that the North American consumer has been forced to pay an added $740,000,000 because of the rise in coffee prices. A confidential report to the state department shows a fair figure would be around $500,000,000. And the Latin coffee growers say that both estimates are unjust, since they are based on a comparison with prices so low as to make the comparison out of line with other commodity price changes. What gets the Latins so riled is the sharp contrast between United States prewar and United States practice. Senators who charge a plot to "rig" the coffee market are, themselves, working as hard as they can to keep the prices of American farm commodities at the highest possible level.

More important, they threaten to take action that will greatly curtail, or shut off, the sales of South American raw materials to the United States. If this action is taken, on top of the coffee report, the repercussions south of the border will indeed be serious.

Chilean Copper. The first applies to Chile's chief source of income from exports—copper. During the war when the demand for copper was over-whelming, the tariff of $30 a ton was lifted. Now, unless the Senate takes affirmative action by the end of this week (June 30), that tariff will be put on again. Such action is not expected. With industry hitting new post-war highs, Chilean copper will probably come in despite the barrier. But it will be a discrimination. And even a slight drop in present levels of production would cut the flow of Chile's copper. There is to say nothing of what it will add to the bill of the North American consumer.

Virtually every phase of national self-interest points to a tariff-free U. S. policy on copper. Supplies in this country are dwindling. The best way to conserve what is left is to keep it underground until it is needed in another emergency, which at this moment looks ominously near. If Chile's economy is upset by a break in the copper trade, there will be serious political consequences—Communism will get a new opportunity.

Venezuelan Oil. The situation with respect to Venezuela's exports of oil to this country is almost identical. A proposal has been pushed to increase the tariff on Venezuelan crude oil from 10½ cents to $1.05 a barrel. This was backed in the first instance by independent oil producers in this country. They have been somewhat appeased by the fact that restrictions on production are being taken off as a result of current demand. The pressure today comes from coal miners and coal-mine owners who argue that imported crude oil is supplanting coal in industry.

The flow of Venezuelan oil into this country has steadily increased since the war's end. In the first quarter of this year it was com-

New Names Boost City's Census To Over 15,000

Escanaba has added 254 names to its population census since the first unofficial count of 14,814. Latest figures from the U. S. Bureau of the Census, Sault Ste. Marie, give Escanaba's population as 15,068.

A few additional names will be credited to Escanaba from the census missing persons list. In view of this latest report and other information secured, it may be said that the 16,000 or 16,500 count expected by many cannot be established.

Of the 254 names, 106 were due to the missing of one complete block including the east side of North 10th street, the west side of North Ninth street, the south side of Second avenue north and the north side of First avenue north.

Escanaba's census supervisor cites that this block was located in an unusual district. Usually enumerators take just one side of the street. But in this case the orange line on the city map marking the district was not quite clear and the enumerator did not realize that he was to cover both sides of the street.

Publicity Brought Some

The rest of the 254 names came as the result of work by enumerators after the first census report to find persons who could not be located at the time of the census. Other names came in response to the city of Escanaba's plea to all those who had not been tabulated. Through the Press, radio station WDBC and notices on utility bills over 50 names were sent in to the Chamber of Commerce and turned over to the census bureau.

The 1950 census, as compared with the 1940 census, does not give credit to Escanaba for its college or its armed force members. About 300 students and 200 servicemen are the estimates given by local school and recruiting sources.

Considering Escanaba's population in 1940 census terms, the 14,814 in the first count, the additional 254 names and the 500 students and servicemen would give a total of 15,568.

But Escanaba census must be considered in light of the 1950 regulations and this final total will be approximately 15,068.

Expected Larger Figure

Many factors led Escanabans to expect a much greater population increase this census year. Among these factors were the number of building permits issued, new industry and the electric and water meter increase during the decennial period.

From 1940 to 1950, 388 building permits were issued, 298 of them in the period from 1945 to 1949. This would seem to indicate a large increase in population at first glance. However, city officials cite that not all of these houses were built.

It can also be said that the doubling up of two families in a home is not as prevalent now as in the past years. This would account for a number of the new homes built.

All estimates point to a smaller family unit now than ten years ago. Of the new houses built in the past three years just two were duplexes and one an apartment house. The rest were single-family dwellings.

New Industry's Effect. Contrary to popular opinion, Escanaba's population was not greatly increased by new industry. The Solar, Venus and North-

Service estimates 4,142 employed in February 1950 and 733 unemployed in the city of Escanaba. In December 1940 the employment figure is 3744 and the estimated unemployment 800.

These figures do not indicate a large population increase. During the past few years many women worked in new industries in Escanaba or in war industries and are now listed as unemployed. These same women were not considered as a part of the labor force in 1940. Today, there are more families in which both husband and wife are employed.

Social welfare figures have a negligible influence on the problem since the Employment Service reports that the greater percentage of welfare cases is listed under the unemployed.

Delta County has shown a 2,257 decrease in the 1950 census. Fourteen counties in the Upper Peninsula and Northern Michigan have shown a drop in population.

Study of the facts, indicates that the 1950 census tabulation is inaccurate.

However, the importance of each person being reported in the census is considerable. Every person not counted will mean a possible loss to the city of about $100 over a 10-year period.

The city receives about $10 per person per year as its share of state collected, locally shared taxes. This $10 figure assumes an amount of $5.50 per capita returned to municipalities from sales tax money each year, $1.50 from intangible taxes and $3 from gas and weight taxes.

On the basis of expected population rise the Escanaba city budget for the fiscal year 1950-1951 assumed the following increases in state rebates from the 1949-1950 figure: intangible tax $5,200; weight and gas tax, $13,100; and sales tax, $5,900. The 1950 census report will result in a decrease in the expected rebate.

Reduces Colds

BELLFLOWER, Calif. — (AP) — School absences due to colds can be reduced by modern design and heating of school buildings, says Dr. Norman Wampler, superintendent of school here. He credits them with effecting a 14 per cent cut in such absences among children in a new kindergarten.

The floors are heated by radiant panels, eliminating updrafts. The heating is controlled by outside and indoor thermostats, the outdoor thermostat is a weather anticipator, sensing changes in outdoor temperatures and signaling the heating plant to get into action before indoor changes occur. The room thermostat modifies the actions according to the number of pupils in the room, and other conditions. The system does away with "the cold 70," when the thermometer may read 70 but the room is still chilly, said engineers of the Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator Co.

The Meadville

A House Of Informality

Rooms Seven
Bedrooms Three
Closets Five
Cubage - House 26,600
Garage 6,300
Dimensions 42' x 25'

Wide clapboards make a most suitable and attractive exterior finish for this house, although shingles or a combination of stone and wood could be used, if you prefer. If clapboards are used horizontally on the house proper, why not, for contrast, have the clapboards applied to the garage vertically?

Attached to the house, and resembling an old-fashioned carriage house, the two-car garage is a definite decorative asset to the house exterior. The house proper measures approximately 42' x 25' and the garage 20' feet. Total length is 72' and so a large lot, at least 82' long, will be required. Cubage of the house is 26,600 feet; of the garage, 6,300 feet.

Sheltered by the roof overhang, that also protects the front terrace the front door opens into a long hallway connecting with the lavatory, den, living room and dining room. You'll appreciate the extra large coat closet located in the left wall near the end of the hall because such a closet in an entry hall can be used for a myriad of useful storage purposes.

Convenient Lavatory

The lavatory likewise is conveniently located, both for guests coming to or leaving your home as well as for any occupants of the adjacent guestroom or den. A smaller closet, located just across the hall from the lavatory, can be used by the overnight or weekend guest, or for any storage purpose desired.

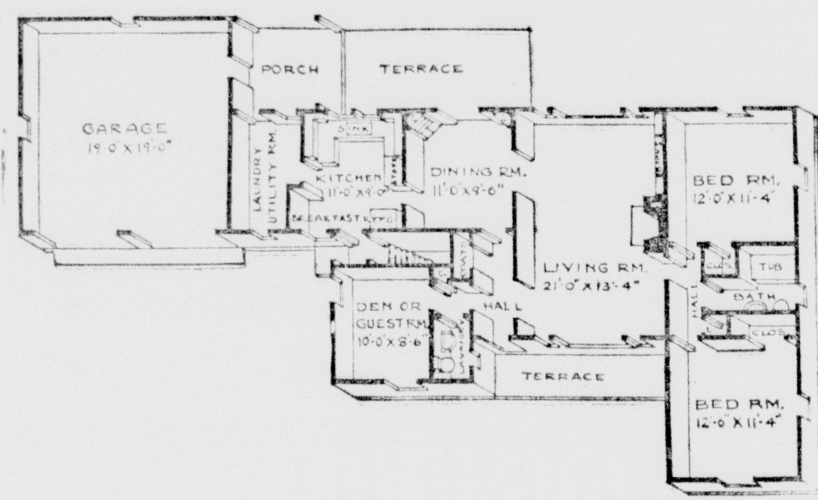

Measuring 10' x 8' 6", the guest room or den is a pleasant room with good cross ventilation provided by the one window in the front wall and the window in the left wall. If you want to use this room as a den you'll find the long unbroken back wall an excellent location for built-in book shelves.

Easily the most attractive room in the house, the 21' x 13' 4" living room is designed to really be lived in. Handsome picture windows flanked by narrow casement windows in both the front and back walls bring the beauty of the out-of-doors into this spacious room; enable you to plan your decorative scheme so as to reap full benefits from a lovely surrounding view or your own beautiful gardens.

A large fireplace, in the right wall, gives the room a friendly cheerful atmosphere that suggests comradeship get-togethers of friends and neighbors. Built-in book shelves could be installed along that area of the right wall extending from the fireplace to the back wall.

There is plenty of space in the room for your television set as well as for comfortable, informal groupings of occasional chairs.

Both bedrooms are located in the projecting wing at the right of the living room. With the bathroom placed between them, the bedrooms are connected by a short hallway. There is good cross ventilation in both rooms, for each bedroom has two windows on adjoining walls.

Measuring 11' x 11' 4", the back bedroom has a large clothes closet located back to the all-modern bathroom. The front bedroom, 12'6" x 11'4" in dimensions, boasts an unusually large clothes closet, also back to the bathroom. A good sized linen closet opens on the hallway.

Back in the main section of the house, the dining room is located at the left of the living room and is reached through a wide, open arch. A French door in the back wall leads out on the terrace, brings the beauty of the back yard garden into the 11' x 9'6" dining room; at the same time, it provides light and during the Summer months additional ventilation, for the room.

Well Planned Kitchen

With every inch of available space planned so as to make sundry kitchen tasks that much easier, the modern kitchen is placed to the left of the dining room. From the stove, located next to the dining room door, the work counters extend in a U along the right wall, the back wall and the left wall up to the door to the utility room.

Located under the double windows in the back wall, the sink is just about in the center of the group of working counters. At the other end of the 11' x 9'6" kitchen, to the right of the door from the dining room, is the suggested location for the refrigerator because this position is but a few steps from the stove. In the left front corner you can install your breakfast nook for this area is made more bright and cheerful by the window looking out on the side stoop.

This side entrance provides direct access to the cellar. The door to the kitchen opening off this small hallway makes a convenient entrance for delivery men, etc., as well as for the youngsters who seem to be forever trooping in and out of the house.

The utility room, located off the and had finished the weekly wash, you could just open that back door and proceed to hang up the clothes either on the porch or in the back yard, depending, of course, upon the location of your clothes line.

In cold or stormy weather you can go directly into the garage from the back porch and thus spare yourself that much inconvenience. Built to accommodate two cars, the garage is 19' square and contains a window in the back wall and another in the side wall.

Since the "Meadville" has a utility room on its first floor, the heating equipment is the only "must" installation for the basement, this should be placed under the living room. The rest of the cellar area can be put to use as you see fit.

Plans Available

Complete plans and specifications for the "Meadville," and other homes in this series, are available at moderate cost. To ascertain the exact price of these documents, write to the Home Building Editor, Escanaba Daily Press, and enclose a self-addressed envelope bearing a three-cent stamp. At least one week should be allowed for a reply.

Cheap Paintbrush Will Prove Poor Economy

It isn't economy to choose a cheap paint or varnish brush—the hairs are likely to fall out and mar the new coating. When this happens the final result is poor. A good brush costs more but it holds more paint, is less likely to leak or spatter, leaves a clean edge and gives a uniform finish. Furthermore, a good brush will give long service if it is cared for properly.

Question: What can I do about Paint Sealing?

Answer:

First, check to see if moisture is setting back of the paint. Was the lumber wet or damp when first painted to cause the first coat to get a poor anchorage? Was the paint of a good quality? Scrape and sandpaper all sealing paint and if necessary either burn it off or use a paste paint and varnish remover. If a paint remover is used, be sure the surface is neutralized before re-priming.

Get Elected To Office For Success As Writer

By ROBERT C. RUARK
NEW YORK — Being one of those odd birds who makes his living with two fingers on a rackety typewriter, I find I have been going about it the wrong way for all these years and it is disturbing to contemplate so much wasted effort.

RUARK

We see how Mr. Joseph McCarthy, the scourge of the state department has achieved top writing success on one try, a neat brochure on housing, reaping in his maiden effort a staggering $1.12 a word for an 8,900-word treatise called "wanted: a dollar's worth of house for every dollar spent." This would be high pay for Ernest Hemingway. For Senator McCarthy, the spy-chaser, it represents a big splash in beautiful letters.

It seems that the Senator was paid $10,000 by the now bankrupt Lustron Corp. for writing them a little exploitation piece at a time when the Senator, oddly enough, was vice-chairman of the 80th Congress' joint housing committee. To the snide allegations that Lustron might just possibly have been grinding a legislative ax by commissioning the Senator to do a piece for them, McCarthy, bursting with pride of authorship, replied that the story was worth every nickel they paid him.

Persecution Complex

That is the way with authors, you know. They forever consider themselves to be underpaid, and wear a persecution complex always on their sleeves. The only really satisfied author I know of is Gen. Ike Eisenhower, who was allowed a capital gains on the $750,000 sale of his memoirs, and thereby was able to stash more than half-a-million in the cracked teacup on the mantel.

Most authors go through long and laborious apprenticeships. They hustle copy on newspapers and cover police beats and chase fires and superintend the removal of cats from trees. They live in garrets and drink warm gin and are always on the lam from the Morris plan. They sit up all night sweating over jeweled prose that editors never buy. If they are lucky, they finally crack the market, but by that time they are generally too jaded from gin and dyspepsia to enjoy whatever fruits the government leaves on the aging tree.

This is roughly the way I went at the business of turning deathless prose into bacon and beans, and I will just confess that it is a silly way to go about it, when there are so many short cuts.

How to Achieve Success

The only way to swift success in writing is to become elected to an office, be appointed to a cabinet, or get yourself a job as an ambassador or general. It is then that publishers and housing corporations who want money from the RFC will literally kick your door down, waving contracts in one fist and currency in the other.

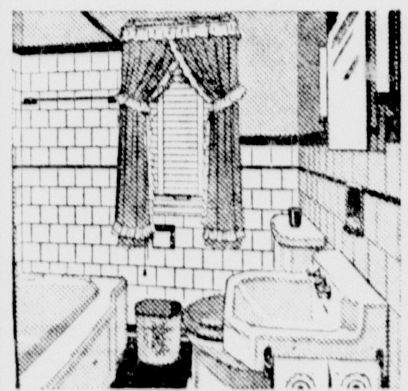

It is sometimes considered bad form, in government circles, to sell the by-products of your job while you are still in office. This may be avoided by squirreling up a lot of facts and secret conversations and inside dope and then resigning. After resignation or defeat at the polls, it is then considered perfectly ethical to hustle the accrual from your stretch as a government slave. Many facts that are considered too rich for the people's blood while the author is in office become acceptable for dissemination once they are bound in good stiff covers with a bright-dust jacket.

Sen. McCarthy, however, is a member of the impatient school of governmental authors. He decided not to wait for graduation from the governmental prep school of easy journalism. Like all good reporters, he had a scoop resulting from his term as a member of the housing committee, and good reporters never sit on scoops, especially when somebody is waving 10 grand at them. "Wanted: a dollar's worth, etc." was such easy stuff that I am sure no federal public relations hack could possibly have compiled it. Not at $1.12 a word.

As I remember, my first excursion into slick magazine article writing paid off with a check for $200 for 5,000 words. My uneasy arithmetic tells me that is four cents a word. McCarthy, the freshman scrivener, has thereby beaten me by $1.08 per word, a sizable margin even in times of total inflation.

This, then, is why I grieve over my old, outmoded method of tackling literature. The gentleman from Wisconsin is the man with the answer—get yourself elected and the Book of the Month club is just around the corner.

Diesel Wheels Fixed On Track

Need Not Remove From Locomotive

CHICAGO—You don't have to take the wheels off a diesel locomotive any more to recondition them.

A new machine announced by Standard Railway Equipment Manufacturing Co. reconditions them right there on the track. Called a wheel truing machine, it rests in a specially-built pit below the locomotive and "grinds" one set of wheels at a time.

The wheel truing machine will restore the original contour to all wheels of a diesel locomotive in eight hours. Before this, it took 48 hours to remove the wheels, turn them on a lathe in the shop and replace them. That tied the engine up until the job was done, too.

The new machine not only does the job faster, but it saves about $350 in labor cost per engine, according to Karl T. Nystrom, manager of Standard's patent and development department.

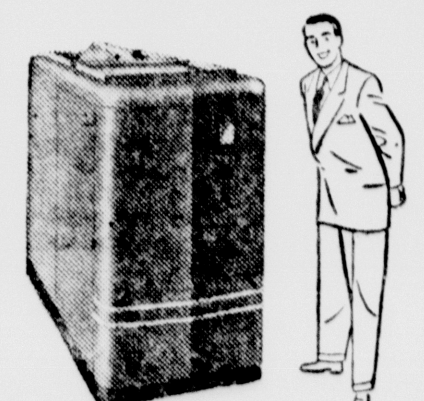

Locomotives generally need their wheels reconditioned about once a year.

Mr. Nystrom explains the equipment will find its most extensive use on diesel locomotives, though it can also be used on cars. He adds that many railroads these days are in the market for diesel locomotive wheel equipment because of the rapid growth of the diesel engine. Wheels of steam locomotives would not fit the new machine, according to Mr. Nystrom.

Suspension Of Tokyo Red Paper Ordered

TOKYO.—(AP)—General MacArthur today ordered the Japanese government to suspend publication of the Communist party newspaper Akahata for 30 days.

It was MacArthur's third body blow to Japan's Reds in as many weeks. On June 6 he ordered 20 of the party's central executive committee purged from Japanese political life. The next day he banned 17 top editorial personnel from working on Akahata.

In a letter to Premier Shigeru Yoshida today MacArthur said he hoped elimination of the old leadership would turn Akahata toward "a course of relative moderation."

He said its one sided coverage of the present Korean situation had shown the Communists had not learned their lesson.

about $80,000. With installation—including the pit—it should not run over $90,000, Mr. Nystrom says.

Music Pupils Of

Heard In Recital

An interesting musical event of the week was the recital Wednesday at Bonitas Memorial auditorium at which Jane O'Connell, senior in music, and Irene Steen, senior second year in piano and pipe organ, were presented by Miss Alice Cossett, L. M., their instructor.

Miss Steen's intelligent musicianship was apparent in each of her selections which included "Rondo Capriccioso" Mendelssohn, "Waltz in C Minor" by Chopin and "Rhapsodie" by Brahms. Miss O'Connell also revealed a flair for the piano and freshness and neatness of delivery in her numbers, "A Study in Octaves" by Kullak, "Invention No. 8" Bach and "Valse Trieste" by Schubert.

Ruth Haven, of the intermediate course, gave an interesting descriptive analysis of the third selection.

Other students were heard to advantage in the recital, showing marked musical aptitude, and their part in the program included the following:

"Noody Knows de Trouble, I've Seen" (Negro Spiritual) — Barbara Klasek

Hairbrush Trick
Banishes Grime
Worn-out stockings, which most of us have regarded as pretty useless since women stopped using them for rag curlers, have come into the beauty spotlight again.

This time they're emerging as hair-brushing aids. Wrapped around the bristles of your brush, the stockings pick up dirt and excess oil from your hair. Hosiery is used rather than other fabrics because the weave is sheer enough to avoid interfering with the action of the bristles.

For best results, stockings should be changed several times during each brushing. If they become too soiled, they only redistribute dirt.

Used as a mid-week measure, this stocking-brush trick can cut down the number of summer shampoos you need. Besides contributing to cleanliness by removing soot and dandruff flakes, it also regulates natural oils for added gloss.

Brushing is especially important during the summer. As you lift your hair with your brush strokes, it is aired. Perspiration, cigarette and cooking odors are allowed to escape.

There are three simple rules for effective brushing. Use upward and outward strokes. Make sure the brush penetrates to your scalp with each motion. Brush vigorously but still gently, taking care not to bruise your scalp or break your hair by jerking at tangles.

Lipstick Must Match Tan

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer
Most women discover, as their tans deepen each summer, that their old shades of lipstick are no longer becoming.

The dark reds that looked startling and dramatic against winter-pale skins offer too little contrast with their new brown complexions. The warm orangy shades that went so well with cold weather colors tend to point up the sallowness in their skins.

The answer to this problem, according to Frank Westmore, Hollywood beauty authority, is to turn to more subtle lip make-up. He advises for brunettes a color somewhat lighter than a true red one with a very faint undertone of blue. For blondes, he suggests a pale pink for glowing, youthful effect.

There are, however, no hard and fast rules for selecting summer lipstick. Individual differences in rate and degree of tanning make it necessary for each person to experiment until she finds a becoming shade. This may possibly mean changing lipstick in midseason when your tan reaches its peak.

Drivers Asked To Be Careful

Police Cite Danger Of High Speeds

Police Chief Torval Kallerson yesterday likened the chances of a driver walking away from his car uninjured after striking a telephone pole at 60 miles an hour to the chances of an egg remaining uncracked after being hit with a badminton racket.

The Chief's remark came in connection with the operation of the State Safety Commission's program of traffic safety education which has as its theme: speed control.

"Roughly," he said, "the effect of hitting a solid obstruction at 60 miles an hour is equivalent to driving your car from the roof of a 10-story building. The damage to the car and occupants is the same in either case."

The State Safety Commission's program, this month, will emphasize to motorists the terrible energy and destructive power that is inherent in the speeding car.

"At 60 miles an hour," Chief Kallerson said, "the occupant of the car, if injured, is eight times more likely to die of these injuries than if the accident had occurred at 20 miles an hour."

One of the chief reasons that excessive speed is so often involved in traffic accidents, according to the State Safety Commission, is the greatly increased stopping distances incurred at high speeds. At 70 miles an hour, for instance, a car will hurtle along 100 feet in the time required for one short breath—one second!

Chief Kallerson urged drivers to drive carefully over the July 4th weekend in an effort to cut down the number of accidents which usually mar the holidays.

Illinois Goes After Gambling

State Takes Steps To Enforce Laws

By PETER EDSON

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—(NEA)—Illinois has had a long tradition of open gambling. Also, it is the manufacturing center for most of the coin-machine industry, to give it a polite name. This in spite of the fact that for over 50 years, slot machines have been illegal.

The whole trouble, says Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson, has been lax enforcement. The take on the slot machines alone has been from $60,000,000 to $100,000,000 a year. And since the machines have always been rigid to pay back no more than 20 per cent of the take, the 80 per cent profit has provided plenty of money for political corruption.

Just where the corruption went in past state administrations, Governor Stevenson says he doesn't know. But that it went to local or state law enforcement officials seems obvious.

The governor and his attorney general, Ivan Elliott, campaigned in 1948 on broad promises of reform and an end to corruption in state government.

Since the Stevenson administration has now been in office for a year and a half, and since the slot machines are still being found in raids by the State Police, there have been a number of questions raised as to why campaign promises haven't been carried out.

But here the governor makes a distinction. "I said that if I were elected governor, there would be no lines between the gamblers and the state," he explains. "I did not say there would be no local tie-ups, which are a local responsibility."

Job For Local Authorities
Governor Stevenson offers this explanation not as an alibi, but as a statement of his policy. He does not believe that enforcement of anti-gambling laws should be carried out at the state government level. He believes it should be done by city and county officials.

To this end, the attorney general has called in local sheriffs and police officials of places where gambling was known to exist. These local officials have been lectured on their responsibility, and in some cases even threatened, where co-operation has been negative or sporadic.

In a few cases where there has been no action at all, the Illinois State Police have been ordered to make raids. But this the governor says he does not like to do. The State Police force numbers only 500 officers. There are seldom more than 200 on duty at any one time. And to muster 100 of them for a gambling raid in any one locality weakens the regular patrolling of a state 400 miles long.

Before even these emergency raids could be conducted, it was necessary to completely reorganize the State Police force. Here, too, this force has been a political plum. When a state administration was changed from one party to another, it has been customary to fire the whole State Police force and recruit a new one.

This has now been changed. By agreement with the Republicans, half of their old State Police force was fired and replaced by Democrats. And hereafter, appointments to the force will be made on a merit basis only, regardless of political affiliations.

This taking of the State Police out of politics is offered to the cities and counties as an example of good government and as a first step towards getting more honest law enforcement.

Liquor Licenses

In a few cases, the state has tried to suspend liquor licenses in establishments which permitted gambling. But this movement has been tied up by court injunction. No decision as to its legality is possible before October.

The raids on gambling houses which State Police have conducted in half a dozen Illinois counties have thus far netted nearly 500 slot machines. They have created much speculation in Illinois as to whether the state would completely take over the anti-gambling drive.

In the light of the governor's policy statement given above, however, it is apparent that the State Police will be used only in emergency cases, against the worst offenders whom police cannot or will not touch.

Will Observe Golden Wedding

Van Dycks Married
50 Years Ago

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Van Dyck, who for many years resided in Manistique, will observe the golden anniversary of their wedding next Sunday.

The occasion will be observed at an open house at the home of their son, J. J. Van Dyck, 823 Deer street from 11 to four o'clock. If weather conditions are favorable the reception will be in the open. Otherwise, it will be in the apartments upstairs over the store.

The anniversary, in reality, occurred on May 9, but Mr. and Mrs. Van Dyck were in Florida at that time and it was their wish to celebrate their golden wedding in Manistique with their children and among old time friends.

The couple exchanged marriage vows at the Catholic chapel at Thompson, with the Rev. Fr. Koonish, of Manistique the officiating priest. Attending the couple were Mrs. Peter Quinlan, of Newberry (the former Nellie Moran), and Alphonse Van Dyck, a brother of the bridegroom, now deceased.

The couple lived in Thompson for a couple of years and then moved to Champion and later to Republic. In 1906 they moved to Manistique where Mr. Van Dyck purchased the store property now being operated by his son. Here he conducted a store business in a widely varied scale, operating it until 1929, when he retired and turned over the business to his son.

For the past several years he and Mrs. Van Dyck have resided in Dunedin, Florida, where they own a home. They usually manage to spend their summers in Manistique.

They are the parents of six children, a son, J. J., of Manistique; five daughters, Mrs. Gladys Hoholik, of Manistique; Mrs. Lillian Beaudoin, of Flint; Mrs. Margaret Bowman, of Gulliver; Mrs. Edna Fox, of Berkley and Mrs. Shirley Graft, of Manistique. There are also 11 grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Babe Ruth School Closes Its Doors At Baltimore, Md.

BALTIMORE—(P)—The house that built Babe Ruth and turned many an orphan and toughie into good, solid Americans has passed out of existence. St. Mary's industrial school has closed its doors.

For 84 years—since 1866—the Catholic-sponsored school has taken into its grey walls boys who were homeless or tabbed as potential lawbreakers.

But because the state has made other arrangements for its juvenile problems, financial aid has been withdrawn.

Two of its more noted products blazed their names across the nation and became figures of speech in the sports and entertainment worlds.

George Herman Ruth entered the school when he was seven because his father, a saloonkeeper, thought the environment around his place wasn't too good. Young Ruth was listed as an incorrigible, but in later years you could never get the Fathers at the school to agree that he was.

He stayed there until he was 18 and his baseball career was in full blossom.

And there's Al Jolson. He visited the school last September for the first time in about 50 years.

"I was a bad boy, then, but not too bad," Jolson said at the time. "I had run away from home. After a few months, my parents came from Washington and took me home."

"Consent of the Governed"

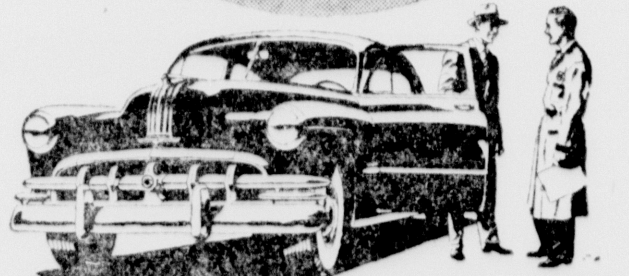

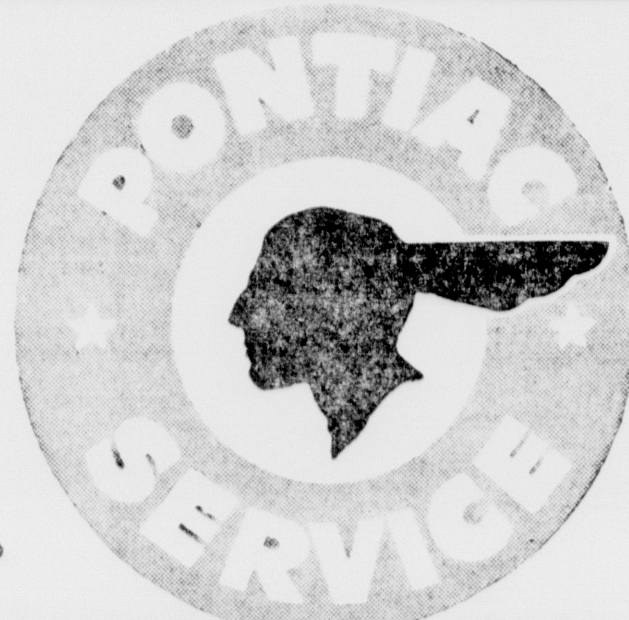

The reason why this country achieved independence from Great Britain was because the people of the colonies knew that it was to their advantage to live under a government that "derives its just powers from the consent of the governed." They were willing to lay down their lives for that advantage. We should cherish and protect that heritage so dearly bought for us.

New Westside Softball Field Ready For Use

The new Hiawatha Playground has had its face lifted and is now ready for the onslaught of the Westside teen ball players.

The recreation board has made plans for the location of two diamonds for the West side children and the completion of the Hiawatha diamond is now ready. Some leveling and filling was necessary and the new backstop erected. Pitching plate and home plate have been placed. Since the area is limited the baselines have been laid out suitable for the smaller children.

It is expected that regular recreation league games will be held there as well as at the Fairgrounds to relieve the congestion at the latter playground. Five diamonds are needed to take care of the unusually heavy enrollment in Mite and Midget baseball.

New Drug Developed To Treat Malaria

DETROIT—(P)—Development of a new drug reported to be 25 times as effective as quinine in treatment of malaria was announced by Parke, Davis & Co.

The drug is known as camoquin, and Parke, Davis said that "actual field tests in many parts of the world" proved it "unsurpassed as an anti-malarial."

Single doses of camoquin given 50 malarial patients in Panama brought their temperatures to normal within 48 hours and only one relapse occurred in 16 months, the company reported.

Welcome To Three-Day
Homecoming Celebration

Three big, happy days are in store for the people of Manistique and vicinity.

Final arrangements have been completed and the Legion-sponsored homecoming celebration, which starts tomorrow, promises to be the biggest and best three-day carnival of fun and frolic Manistique has seen since the old time blueberry festivals were in their heyday.

The celebration opens officially at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon with the crowning of Miss Joyce McNamara as queen of the celebration.

The activities will be started by Mayor James Fyvie, followed by a welcome by William Cowman, commander of the Manistique post of the American Legion. Mayor Fyvie will officiate as master of ceremonies at the coronation.

A band and two drum and bugle corps will be on hand throughout the three days to lend a holiday touch to the events.

Henry Jahn, a veteran of the Spanish American War and who, perhaps, enjoys the widest acquaintance of anyone in Manistique, will be marshal of the day.

Plenty of Activity

The celebration activities include two parades, plenty of baseball, street sports, a street dance, a musical and dancing exhibition with a gorgeous fireworks display as a grand finale.

The band, which will play at the coronation ceremony Sunday will, at its conclusion lead the line of march to the fairgrounds park where the Manistique Cardinals and Marquette, both members of the Rainbow league, will play. The game will conclude Sunday's program officially designated as Homecoming Day.

Monday Is Merchant's Day

Monday will be Merchants' Day and the program will start at 12:30 on the west side with the Little German band providing music. Arriving at Central school, the band will head the children's parade down Cedar street, to Triangle Park, opposite the post-office. While probably not the most spectacular event of the celebration, it certainly will have the most appeal.

On the afternoon of this day there will be a ball game between junior Legion teams from Manistique and Menominee, and later, starting at 6:30 o'clock, a game between two midget baseball teams. A pavement dance near Triangle park will conclude Monday's activities.

Tuesday Is Freedom Day

A morning salute, with several score of aerial bombs providing the detonation, will usher in the Nation's birthday.

Alaskan Nomad Race
Dies Out In Epidemic

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Smithsonian Institution reported that a little-known people in northern Alaska is rapidly dying out, chiefly because of "great epidemics of influenza and measles."

The people, generally known as the Nunatagmiut Eskimo, numbered 3,000 nomad caribou hunters two or three generations ago, the report said. It added:

"Now a single group of less than 40 is left alive."

Small pieces of fur resembling fox tails tied high in a cherry tree will tend to keep birds from eating the fruit when ripe-time comes.

Will Lecture On
Theme Of "God
And Scandinavia"

"God and Scandinavia" is the topic of the lecture-sermon to be given this Sunday night at 7:30 at the Bethel Baptist church in Manistique. It will be given by the Rev. Stanley Jacobson, who is a brother of Mrs. Harold Martinson.

The Jacobson family of four have visited the Scandinavian countries and the interesting survey of the people, and their unusual contributions to the family of nations will be the contents of his message. The speaker will reveal insights of the habits of life and thinking that make these nations the success they are.

The Jacobson family are now living in Pullman, Washington, where Mr. Jacobson is pastor of the First Baptist church and director of student work. Rev. Jacobson will also deliver the morning sermon.

The Misses Nancy Anne and Mary Jean Elliot have left for a visit with relatives in Beloit, Wis.

A COUPLE NO HITTERS — Russ Hiltunen (left), Escanaba Bears hurler, and Jack Chriske, Escanaba Cubs pitcher, discuss the finer points of pitching. And they apparently know them, too, because both have pitched no-hit ball games this year.

National League Race Is Free-For-All As Half Way Mark Nears

(By The Associated Press)

Dust off those playoff rules. Ford Frick, your National League may be headed for a six-club showdown.

With July 4th, traditional half-way post, just around the bend, they're all in the race except Cincinnati and Pittsburgh.

Boston, New York and Chicago closed in while Brooklyn, St. Louis and Philadelphia fumbled the pace. Now it's only five games from the first place Phillies to the sixth-place New York Giants, and 1 1/2 from first to fourth.

Lost one and you drop from first to third. The Dodgers did the trick last night. They took a half game lead into Shibe park. After an 8-5 defeat to the Phils they were lucky to be third.

Since Memorial day the Phils, Dodgers and St. Louis Cards have shuffled in and out of the lead. Now the Boston Braves want to get in the act.

No club in the league has been able to run away and hide from the '500 mark. The Phils are only 10 games over it and the Giants are just even. This in the league the Dodgers were supposed to win by 10 or 15 games.

The Brooks looked like anything but champions last night when their two best pitchers—Don Newcombe and Preacher Roe—failed to hold the youthful Phils.

Newcombe, hit on the wrist by Mike Goliat's single in the eighth inning, may have been seriously hurt. If he's out for any length of time, the Dodgers cause is gloomy. After Newcombe left the game with the bases loaded, Jimmy Bloodworth unloaded a three-run pinch double off reliever Roe to break a 5-5 tie.

The revamped St. Louis Cards sneaked past Brooklyn by mauling Pittsburgh, 9-4. That left the Cards only three percentage points back of the Phils.

With Rocky Nelson, up from Columbus, on first base and Stan Musial back in the outfield, the Cards conked Cliff Chambers for 14 hits. Musial contributed a three-run homer and single.

Sibby Sisti's pinch homer with the bases loaded in the ninth inning lifted Boston to an 8-4 edge over the Giants. Sisti's first homer of the year came off Dave Koslo who relieved Shelton Jones after the righthander walked the bases full.

Cincinnati made an early lead stand up for an 8-5 victory over the Chicago Cubs, although Kenny Raffensberger needed help from Herm Wehmeier in the eighth to save his sixth victory.

Big Luke Easter continued his long distance clouting with two more homers and Al Rosen hit his 21st as Cleveland hammered Detroit, 11-3. The surging Indians, winners of 14 of their last 17 games, moved within one game of the second place New York Yankees and five back of the leading Tigers.

Larry Doby went bat-in-hand after Detroit pitcher Dizzy Trout when a Trout pitch sent him sprawling in the second inning. Players from both sides streamed on the field but the umpires quieted the fuss short of an actual fight.

The Yankees ended Boston's seven-game win streak with a 9-6 afternoon win but took a severe 10-2 drubbing from the Red Sox in the night half of the day-night program. Jerry Coleman and Phil Rizzuto pulled a double steal to put the decisive runs in scoring position in the afternoon duel, featured by Rizzuto's four hits.

Walt Dropo hit his 17th homer and Dom DiMaggio and Matt Batts also socked home runs in the night game romp behind Walt Masters.

The Philadelphia A's escaped from the American league cellar with a double win over Washington, 7-6 and 4-2, in a two-night bill. The A's came from behind twice to take the opener for Hank Wyse. Eddie Joost's eighth-inning homer with a man on base gave Alex Wellner the nod in the second.

Gus Zernial hit his 12th homer with two out in the 13th inning for Chicago's 3-2 edge over St. Louis. The loss, charged to Ned Garver, dumped the Browns in to last place.

Bears Entertain North Lake Crew

Escanaba Bears will "warm up" for their Sunday league game here with North Lake by playing a night game tonight at Marinette.

Nothing is known of the strength of the Wisconsin outfit but the Bears will find out tonight.

It is likely the veteran Jack Beck will start against the Badgers. Beck recently returned to the squad after being out of the city on a vacation.

In the North Lake game, it is probable that Joe Rademacher will get the starting call. Rademacher pitched in Thursday night's game against Bark River but it was only to one batter, relieving Russ Hiltunen with two out in the ninth.

In the weekend games, the Bears will be without their hard-hitting outfielder, Tom St. Germain, who is visiting at the home of his parents at Baraga.

North Lake is in second place in the northern division of the Rainbow league, with four wins and two losses. The Marquette county boys have lost only to Gwin, which is undefeated, and to Little Lake. The team has several players from nearby Ishpeming and Negaunee.

The game with North Lake here Sunday will start at 2:30.

U. S. Doubles Team Loses To Australia

WIMBLEDON, England.—(P)—With America's top doubles team Gardner Mulloy and Bill Talbert—out of the all-England tennis championships, Australia's hopes of carting the Davis cup down under soared today.

The youthful Aussie duo of Frank Sedgman and Ken McGregor dumped Mulloy and Talbert unceremoniously yesterday, 8-6, 8-6, 8-10, 10-8, in the third round. Sedgman and McGregor, 22 and 20 years of age, respectively, were unseeded.

The women's division is going almost completely according to expectations, with nine Americans in the round of 16. But it would have been big news, indeed, if the United States ladies did not move along. None of the top girls, including Louise Brough, Mrs. Pat Canning Todd, Doris Hart or Mrs. Margaret Osborne Dupont, has experienced undue difficulty.

But the big doubles defeat took the wind out of the Americans.

Sedgman was seeded No. 1 in singles, but unless the victory was somewhat of a fluke, the United States is going to have to start looking for another Davis cup tandem. It was a case of youth outlasting age. Both Mulloy and Talbert are in their thirties.

On the distaff side, Miss Hart continues to play the best tennis of her career, and many observers have voiced the opinion that if she doesn't suffer a letdown, she'll win the title.

She knocked out Gem Hoahing of England, 6-2, 6-3, and this is no mean feat, for the slightly built Miss Hoahing polished off Gussie Moran last year.

Gussie, incidentally, pranced onto the court with her newest costume, a pair of apple pie panties—sheer white briefs scalloped around the edges. She and Adrian Quist of Australia beat Drago Mitic of Yugoslavia and Pat Ward of England 6-3, 7-5.

Defending champion Miss Brough polished off Mrs. Joy Mottram of England, 9-7, 6-2; United States National champion Mrs. Dupont eliminated Mrs. Jean Walker-Smith of England, 6-3, 6-3; and Mrs. Todd tripped Patsy Rogers of England, 6-0, 6-1. Shirley Fry of Akron, put off fellow American, Mrs. Rita Anderson of Hollywood, 6-1, 6-1.

Manager Leo Knauf said he would start Ben Kleiman or George LeBrasseur against Wilson Sunday and Ray Menard against Perronville Tuesday.

Bark River's baseball queen will be crowned Tuesday.

Bark River Plans July Fourth Tilt

BARK RIVER — Bark River's baseball team will have two games over the long holiday.

Sunday it goes to Wilson in a league game in which it hopes to continue at the top. Wilson is at the bottom of the league heap.

As an added feature, Bark River will entertain Perronville on Fourth of July. The two teams are tied for first in league play and each has lost one game. Bark River defeated Perronville earlier in the season.

Manager Leo Knauf said he would start Ben Kleiman or George LeBrasseur against Wilson Sunday and Ray Menard against Perronville Tuesday.

Bark River's baseball queen will be crowned Tuesday.

Colonels In Tie With Indianapolis

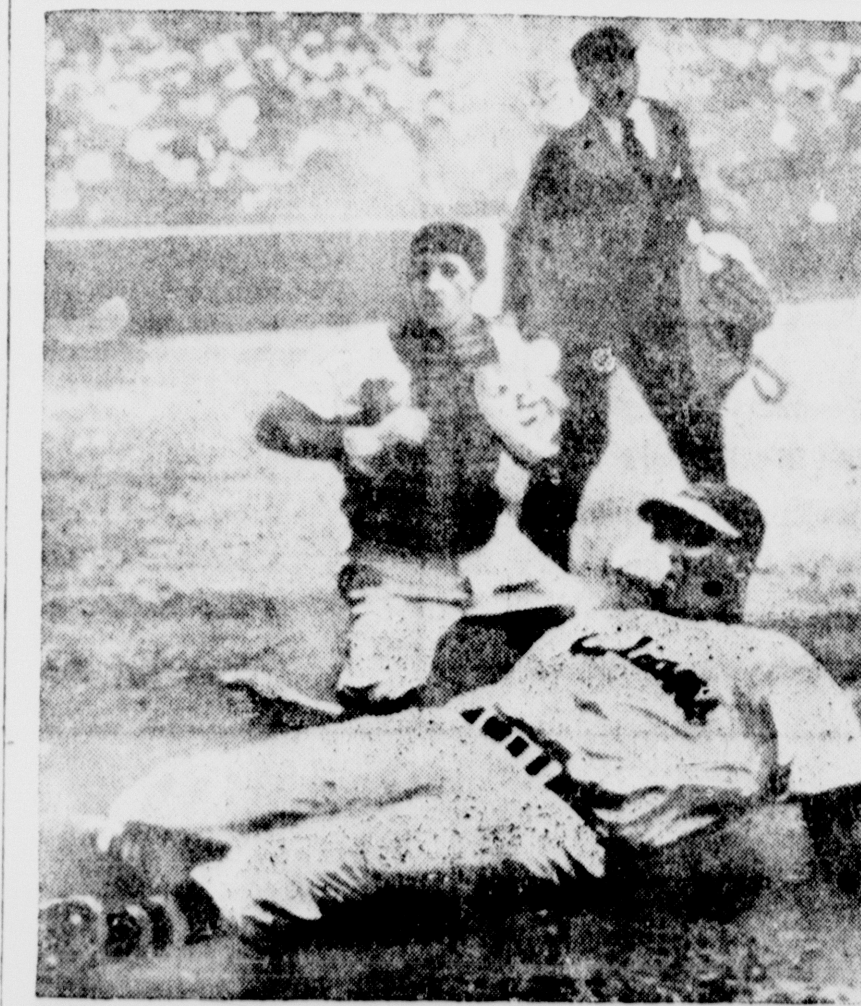

(By The Associated Press)

Louisville swept a doubleheader from Toledo Friday night to drive into a tie for the American association lead with Indianapolis.

The Colonels cashed in on an unearned run to take the opener 1-0 after Johnny Bero, Toledo shortstop, was charged with three consecutive errors. Louisville wrapped up the nightcap 5-4.

A homer by Ken Chapman and a pair of triples by Jim Piersall topped Louisville's winning sixth-inning attack in the finale.

Indianapolis remained locked with the Colonels on top, each with 45-28 records, by edging Columbus 6-5. At Milwaukee, Minneapolis registered its 12th win in 14 starts against the Brewers with a 5-3 decision. St. Paul came from behind to romp over Kansas City 10-5.

Spilling The Dope

By Charlie Larson

Did you ever fool around with names?

Our Detroit Tigers have a queer collection of them. They have White and Gray. They have Lake and Trout.

When things go wrong, they switch to Calvert. If they need speed, they've got Swift. If they're too small, they can always rely on Groth. If they get hungry, they've got Berry. Briggs stadium could be described as being Priddy. If they need to fix up the grounds, they didn't have to go far for Trucks.

Now that we've given you a start on this game, see what you can do. Take, for instance, names like Kryhoski, Kolloway, Houtteman, Newhouser, Hutchinson and Rogovin.

Great fun, eh?

Organized baseball is full of fascinating names.

Here are some that always tickle our fancy whenever we see them in a lineup... Sibby Sisti... Matt Batts... Al Papi... Salvatore Yvars... Bill Barnacle (not Barnacle Bill)... Harry Brecchen... Henry Arft (not Fore)... Early Wynn... Johnny Pesky... Clint Hartung (sounds like achtung)... Elmer Sexauer... Al Schoendienst... Ken Trinkle... Bill Salkeld... and Virgil Stallcup.

There are a lot of other interesting combination of names.

Such as Sauer... Lemon... Fain... Sain... Paige... Page... Wood... Moses... Dark... Wight... Westlake... Jeffcoat... Wood... Grove... Shore... Byrne... Riddle... Rush... Cross... Queen... Roe... Lively... Beers... Dente... Deal... Fox... Savage... Hoppe... Slaughter... Galehouse... Peck... Pierce.

But it's when you dip into the minors that you come up with some dillies... like Punk... Creekmore... Makintubee... Honeycut... Tearpock... Snuggs... Postove... Beleher... Livengood... Thigpen... Winterhalter... Stumpus... Loscutoff... Attaway... Pankovitz... Lowdermilk... and Hoscheit.

Teams Added To Junior Loop; No Games Tuesday

Two more baseball teams in the 14 to 17 year bracket were formed this week in the recreation league of four teams. They are the Farmer Supply and Wahl Drugs.

Sponsors were found for other teams. Kiwanis club has taken over the Ludington Park No. 1 team and will be known as the Yankees while the Dock diamond No. 2 team will be sponsored by Delta Hardware. Royce Park No. 2 will be sponsored by the Hob Nob.

There will be no games Tuesday because of the Fourth of July. Two diamonds will be play Wednesday and Thursday to make up for Tuesday's blank.

Boys wishing to get on teams are asked to get registration blanks at the recreation center.

Schedule for next week follows: Monday—Dock, 9, Dagenais vs. Tompkins; 11, Chiles vs. A & B. Royce; 1:30, Kiwanis Yankees vs. Fair Store; 3:30, Trigs vs. Wahl Drug.

Wednesday—Dock, 9, Kirby's No. 2 vs. Delta Hardware; 11, Kirby's No. 1 vs. A & B; 1:30, Trigs vs. Breitenbach; 3:30, Webster No. 2 vs. Hob Nob; Royce, 9, Dagenais vs. Kiwanis; 1:30, Fair Store vs. Kiwanis Tigers; 3:30, Farmers Supply vs. Wahl's Drug.

Cliff Beaudin was the winning pitcher. He was opposed by Fritz LeFleur and Windy Winchester.

In another old timer game, Lyle Ut's home run helped his father-in-law, John (Mac) McCarthy turn in a 10-9 victory for the St. Joe Boosters over the Delta Frames. Roy Nadon was the losing pitcher.

No Girls League Softball Next Week

Because of the holidays, there will be no girl's league softball play next week.

Tuesday night Tim's and Sally's team will go to Gladstone to play a return game with the Kipling Mermaids. The locals defeated the Mermaids, 25-5, last night.

In another game, Delta Hardware's trounced Home Ecs, 23-3.

Panic In Yankees Denied By Owner

PHOENIX, Ariz.—(P)—Co-owner Del Webb denies reports of panic and dissension in the ranks of the New York Yankees.

Webb said today he talked with top Yankee officials Friday morning and there appears to be complete harmony and co-operation.

His statement was made to counter a story by Ernest Mehl, baseball writer for the Kansas City Star, who charged the Yankees were losing prestige, were "striking out blindly," and that "panic has set in."

Indians Blitz Tigers, 11 to 3

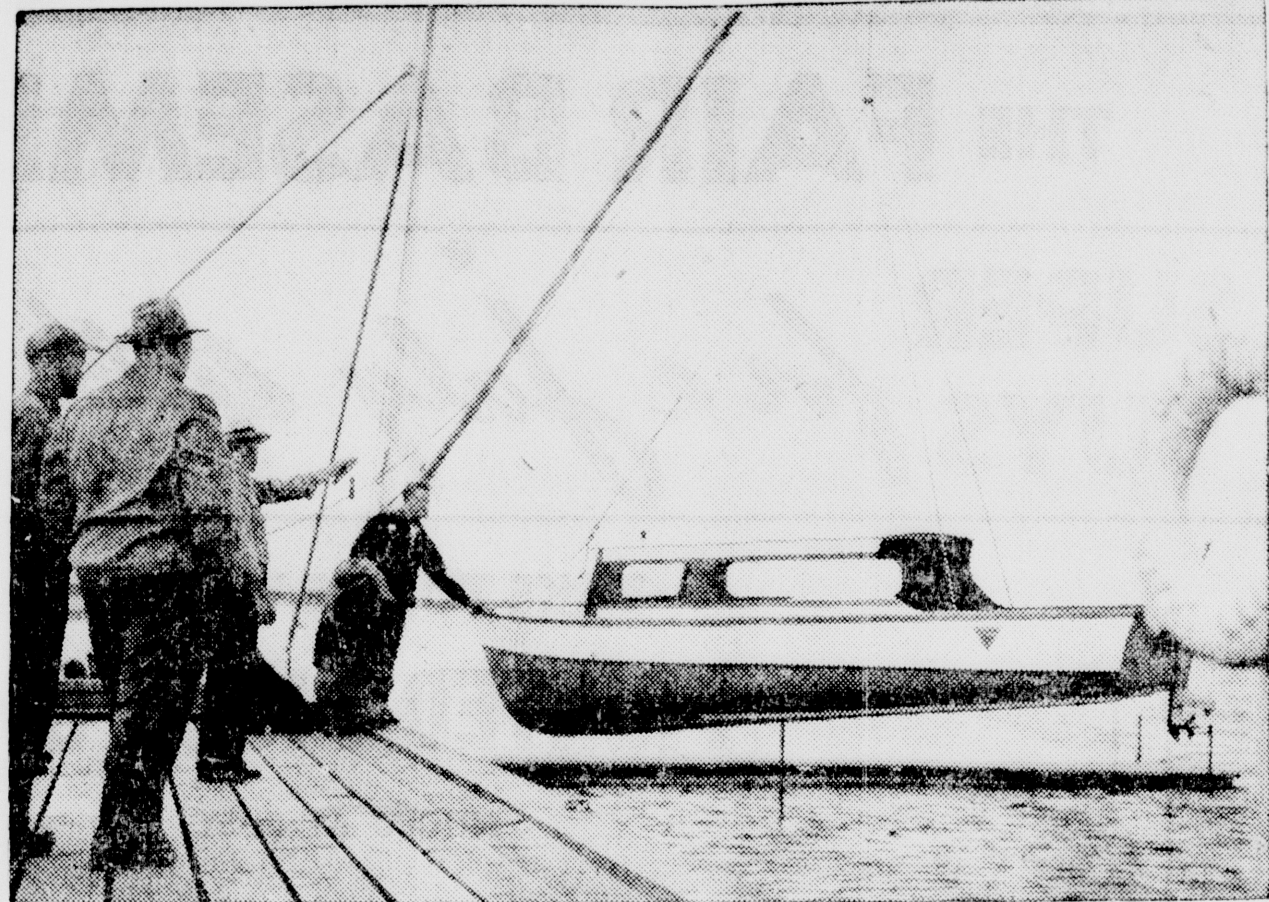

Detroit Loses Game Lead To Yanks

CLEVELAND—(AP)—The Cleveland Indians blitzed the Detroit Tigers, 11 to 3, before 50,882 fans in Municipal stadium last night.

The loss cut the Tigers' American league lead to four games over New York while the third-place Indians climbed to within five games of the top.

The red-hot Indians jumped off to a nine-run lead in the first two innings.

The Tigers never recovered from the one-two punch the pennant hungry Clevelanders threw at Hal Newhouse and Dizzy Trout in those first two innings. It was the Tribe's 14th win in 17 games.

Newhouse Bounced

Hard-hitting Luke Easter started the speedy rout of Newhouse with a two-run homer in the first inning as Cleveland went out to win the opener of the important four-game series.

He added another two-run homer, his 14th of the year, in a wild second inning that saw the Indians pour seven runs across to take a 9-0 lead before reliever Trout could retire the side.

Twelve Indians went to bat in that savage outburst with five hits and five walks figuring in the scoring. Newhouse was lifted with none out in the second after he had walked Dale Mitchell with the bases loaded.

Trout also had plenty of trouble in that second inning, being tagged for Easter's second round-tripper. But he turned in one of his better performances the rest of the way, notching a strikeout in each of the last five innings.

Garcia Coasts In

The veteran Mike Garcia, who has been troubled off and on with a sore arm, was shaky in spots but had enough of a lead to coast in with his sixth win as against four losses.

George Kell American league batting champion, went hitless in four tries to lose six points off his batting average and drop to .368. That enabled Doby to take over the batting lead with a .375 mark. He had two hits in three tries.

The Tigers could not push over a run until the seventh when Aaron Robinson singled, moved to third on Don Kolloway's double and scored on an infield out.

Vic Wertz doubled home two Tiger runs in the eighth off the third Garcia.

The Tigers called on Teddy Gray (9-2) to even up the series against Cleveland's Early Wynn (6-4) today.

Heavy Weekend Schedule Of Softball Features Set

There will be special softball games all over the place over the long Fourth of July weekend.

In a Sunday night triple header at Memorial field, the crack Dow Chemicals of Marquette will provide the opposition in the 8:45 feature game for the young Hughes Motors team.

Hughes will start either Jim Fitzpatrick or Bill Courmeau while the Dow outfit is expected to lead with its crack hurler, Tom Kirby, Northern Michigan college star.

In a preliminary at 7:30, the Steam Laundry will play the U. M. Power and Light crew. And at 6:15, two girls teams, Tim and Sallys of Escanaba and the Queens of Gladstone, will tangle.

In a Monday night doubleheader, the Liberty Loans, who have won their last six games, will entertain the Marinette Taverns at 8:45 with a 7:15 preliminary between Hughes Motors and White Birch. The Loans will start either Ken Dufresne or Ike Eis.

Tuesday night—that's Fourth of July—the Loans will play host to the powerful Menominee Jowicks at 8:45 at Memorial field. There will be a preliminary game at 7:15 but the principals have not been selected.

Tonight there will be a doubleheader at Memorial field with the Gladstone Bungalows meeting St. Thomas in the 8:45 windup and the Gladstone Marble Arms playing White Birch in the 7:15 opener.

Bill Sundling will start for the Legion Juniors with Ed Pilon catching. The game will start at 2 o'clock.

A sale of booster tickets for the next three games, Chatham, Escanaba and Manistique, is being made.

Either Alden (Unc) Haglund or Mel Rothschild will pitch for the Redskins with Johnny Lundin behind the plate.

There is a question whether Playing Manager Bob Bizeau will be playing Sunday. He injured an ankle in a softball game this week.

Beavers Still Lead Gladstone Circuit

GLADSTONE—The Beavers continued their winning ways in men's twilight league play at the Gladstone golf club this week, chalking up their sixth straight win in as many matches over the Badgers.

In other matches, the Wolves nosed the Gophers, the Bears defeated the Bobcats, the Buffaloes were too heavy for the Tigers and the Lions proved better than the Elks.

As a result the Beavers continue in first place in team standings with the Wolves second and Lions third. The Elks, Bobcats and Buffaloes are tied for fourth with the Gophers fifth, Bears sixth, Badgers seventh and Tigers last.

Matches scheduled for next Wednesday are as follows: 4:15, Badgers vs. Gophers; 4:30, Tigers vs. Beavers; 4:45, Lions vs. Bobcats; 5:15, Bears vs. Buffaloes, and 5:30, Wolves vs. Elks.

Steve Sundra Beats Weak Start To Win

(By The Associated Press)

Former major leaguer Steve Sundra gave up three runs in the first inning and then went on to turn in one of the Central league's best performances to date for his Dayton Indians last night.

Sundra finished with a two-hitter as the Indians downed the second-place Grand Rapids Jets 9-3. Saginaw's Bears overcame a five-run lead to edge out Charleston 7-6 in the league's other game.

Wet grounds postponed the game at Flint between the league-leading Arrows and the Muskegon Clippers.

SOMETHING NEW ADDED

There have been plenty of improvements at the Gladstone Yacht club this summer but one of the most popular is a new electric hoist with a ton capacity which proves a boon to boat owners in launching their craft. A new 18-foot outboard powered cruiser recently obtained by Leo DeRoock is being lifted from the water (above). DeRoock watches the front end while Commodore Clyde Cole of the yacht club handles the controls. Lefty Hamilton, club secretary, and Duane Lofgren are spectators. A new dock has been constructed at the harbor, the channel deepened, and a ramp with walk extension built to facilitate boat launchings. Both ramp and hoist will probably be put to use Sunday when the club sponsors an outboard race program.

Below, left, John Schraeder, an entry in the outboard race program Sunday, gets in some time on his motor after it was gone over by his father-in-law, Clyde Cole, veteran boatman and commodore of the Gladstone Yacht club.

Upbay Juniors Play Chatham

Redskins Travel To Gwin Diamond

GLADSTONE—The Gladstone Legion juniors will oppose Chatham at the Bay Shore Diamond Sunday afternoon in the first of four Waubung league home tilts while the Redskins travel to Gwin to face the undefeated leaders of the northern division of the Rainbow league.

Bill Sundling will start for the Legion Juniors with Ed Pilon catching. The game will start at 2 o'clock.

A sale of booster tickets for the next three games, Chatham, Escanaba and Manistique, is being made.

Either Alden (Unc) Haglund or Mel Rothschild will pitch for the Redskins with Johnny Lundin behind the plate.

There is a question whether Playing Manager Bob Bizeau will be playing Sunday. He injured an ankle in a softball game this week.

Twilight Loop Play Changed At Local Club

There's something new in twilight league play coming up Wednesday night at the Escanaba golf club.

Because a large per cent of the pairings were never completed in the past, the committee has devised a new setup, which will start Wednesday, Pro Dick Knop said today.

Each player will choose his own partner for each week but cannot play with the same partner more than once a season in twilight league play.

Winners will be based on total score of both players, less handicaps of both players. First, second and third prizes will be given each week for the three lowest teams. Two players constitute a team, competing against the field for prizes.

Players not having a partner can make arrangements at the pro shop. Matches in play for the President's cup are well under way. They will be finished by Sunday and the results announced later.

Does Security Help People?

Too Many Looking For "Sure Thing"

By ROGER W. BABSON
BABSON PARK, Mass.—Webster's Dictionary definition of "Security" includes freedom from fear, freedom from risk, danger, harm or the like.

I have sometimes heard men say that it was too bad peace didn't seem to provide quite the stimulus for greatness and distinction that war does. War often calls forth not only a man's ability but his capacity. Dwight Eisenhower has often stated that we human beings could not keep on living if there were no struggle and we were kept in "perfect security." Would Columbus have ever discovered America if he had been seeking freedom from risk? Would Patton have been a great fighting general if he had been afraid to swim the rivers or storm the bridges with his men? Would Gandhi have been the beloved leader he was to his people if he had sought first of all to protect his own physical health and life?

What Emerson Said
Ralph Waldo Emerson once said, "Nothing can bring you peace but the triumph of principles." Do we admire or gather inspiration from any of our heroes, poets, or philosophers because they were first seeking security for themselves? James Byrnes in a speech at the last Conference of Southern Governors is reported to have said, in effect, that the people who settled this country did not come here to establish a government. They came to escape the tyrannies of government. They were not seeking security, but an opportunity to enjoy freedom—the freedom of self-development and accomplishment. Today the spirit of self-reliance is unfortunately departing; too many want to lean upon the government; too many are thinking of security instead of opportunity.

Too Many "Dependents"
Who or what has encouraged this leaning, this moral weakness in the United States? Our government itself is encouraging it in every new proclamation. It urges more aid to farmers, more loans to small business, more health insurance and employment security. Each and every suggestion amounts to a promise to spend more as a charity to support this group or that—out of the peoples own hard-earned tax money. Moreover, may I ask if the politicians are doing this for the good of the nation, or to get the votes?

What happens when a man knows he's going to be supported whether he does a good job or a poor one? He loses all incentive to excel. The public must realize by now that too many of their government's employees feel "secure" in their jobs. Yet, they don't have to produce anything which must stand factory or retailer's or consumer's inspection. Even more discouraging is the attitude of some of our youth in the schools. A friend of mine, who is a teacher, says that healthy young men, in their early twenties, claim to be interested only in jobs which will offer them old age pensions and other benefits. As Americans, they should be ashamed of themselves. They should be looking toward jobs where there's a chance to work up, to earn advancement in an incentive system, not in a "sure thing" system. Pension systems would boom Florida and California real estate; pension may help level retail sales over a period of years; but most pension systems will never increase the total national income.

Decay or Growth?
Bernard M. Baruch, adviser to Presidents, said in a recent speech that we are swapping our independence for a "false gospel of security," that the greatest threat to our freedom is "too much government." Do the American people want to be treated like babies, to be cared for by their government from the cradle to the grave? What happens to children who are given everything—except responsibility? They become greedy. They come to expect more and more. They become dependent and parasitical. A strong moral fibered character is never developed at all. There can be no personal or national development without risk, challenge and struggle.

GOING TO THE DOGS—Jiggs, a seven-year-old Boston bulldog owned by Roy Steetzer of Wheeling, W. Va., strikes a Churchillian pose with a long stogie projecting from his bulldog face. The pooch also nips the bottle, and he's seen at right taking a swig of his favorite beer. Jiggs' other related talent is panhandling the nickels that enable him to patronize the bar. He'll pick a nickel from a handful of change and take it to the bar to make his purchase. The bartender accommodates him by charging a nickel for beers and cigars.
